FINNISH PREZ SEALS NATO BID BY SIGNING REQUIRED LAWS

Finland President Sauli Niinist on Thursday formally sealed the Nordic country's historic bid to join NATO by signing into law the required national legal amendments needed for membership in the Western military alliance. The move by Niinist means Finland has completed the national measures needed to join NATO, and is now just awaiting approval from Turkey and Hungary, the only two of NATO's 30 existing members that haven't ratified its bid.

RAHUL SENTENCED TO TWO YEARS IN JAIL FOR MODI SLUR

Gets bail, will file appeal; court says his crime is more serious since he is an MP; judgment suspended; verdict sparks political slugfest

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @Ahmedabad

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi arrives at the IGI airport in New Delhi on Thursday, hours after his conviction in a criminal defamation suit by a Surat court | PTI

CONGRESS leader Rahul Gandhi was on Thursday sentenced to two years imprisonment by the Surat District Court in a criminal defamation suit over a 'Modi surname' slur. The court suspended the sentence for 30 days to let Rahul file his appeal and granted bail. Rahul was present in the court when the verdict was delivered.

The case was filed following a police complaint lodged by BJP leader Purnesh Modi. Rahul made the remarks while addressing a rally at Kolar in Karnataka in the run up to the 2019 Lok Sabha elections.

In its verdict, the court said the seriousness of Rahul's crime increased because a speech delivered by an MP has a "very wide impact on the public". Chief Judicial Magistrate H H Varma said if the accused is given lesser punishment, it would send a wrong message, adding the purpose of defamation law would not be fulfilled.

Rahul could have limited his speech to Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Nirav Modi, Vijay Mallya, Mehul Choksi and Anil Ambani, but "intentionally" made a statement that hurt individuals carrying the Modi surname, committing defamation, the court said.

Rahul's lawyer Kirit Panwala said, "We will file an appeal. The verdict is flawed because there has been no loss or defamation to society or the community." In the court, he had argued that Narendra Modi and not Purnesh Modi ought to have been the complainant because the PM was the main target of Rahul's speech.

For his part, Purnesh Modi welcomed the verdict. "Rahul irresponsibly tried to defame the entire community. He must be punished," he said.

Rahul's sister Priyanka Gandhi Vadra lashed out at the BJP, saying "the entire machinery of a scared government is using money and muscle power to silent Rahul Gandhi's voice. My brother has never been afraid and will never be. He lived his life speaking the truth and will continue to do so."

Whether or not Rahul's would stand disqualified as an MP is still a legal gray area. The Representation of the People Act mandates that a lawmaker sentenced to imprisonment of two years or more shall be disqualified "from the date of such conviction" and remain so for another six years after serving time.

While DMK chief M K Stalin spoke to Rahul over the phone, the latter got support from unexpected quarters, Delhi Chief Minister and AAP national convener Arvind Kejriwal.

Congress chief Mallikarjun Kharge alleged that the BJP-led government wants to get Rahul removed from the LS through disqualification as he speaks the truth and exposes it. P11

Go ahead with Panchamasali quota, govt told

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

MODIFYING the interim order of status quo, the High Court of Karnataka on Thursday allowed the state government to take a decision on reservation for Panchamasali Lingayat sub-sect without disturbing the constitutionally guaranteed quota in Category 2A of the caste-based reservation list.

While giving liberty to the state government to do so, the court made it clear that any decision on the reservation issue would be subject to the final adjudication of the petition pending before it.

A division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice Ashok S Kinagi passed the interim order while vacating its earlier interim order of January 12 passed in the public interest litigation filed by D G Raghavendra, a resident of the city. This was after Solicitor General of India Tushar Mehta gave an undertaking before the court on behalf of the state government that any decision to be taken on reservation will not have any impact on the quota for castes in Category 2A. Mehta clarified that the decision to be taken by the government on quota for Panchamasalis would not, in any way, impact the reservation for existing castes in Category 2A. P8

CONG WORKING ON SPECIAL MANIFESTO FOR BENGALURU

Will focus on women & slum, flat residents

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

WITH the poll code of conduct likely to kick in anytime soon, the Congress seems to be steering ahead in terms of advancing its election campaign, and reaching out to voters.

Former minister Ramalinga Reddy said city MLAs and the campaign committee have come up with various suggestions, and the party, while announcing its manifesto for Karnataka, will also read out special bullet points only for Bengaluru voters.

Reddy said the focus will be a special programme for working women in Bengaluru, addressing their safety. Apartment dwellers and slum dwellers will also get special attention.

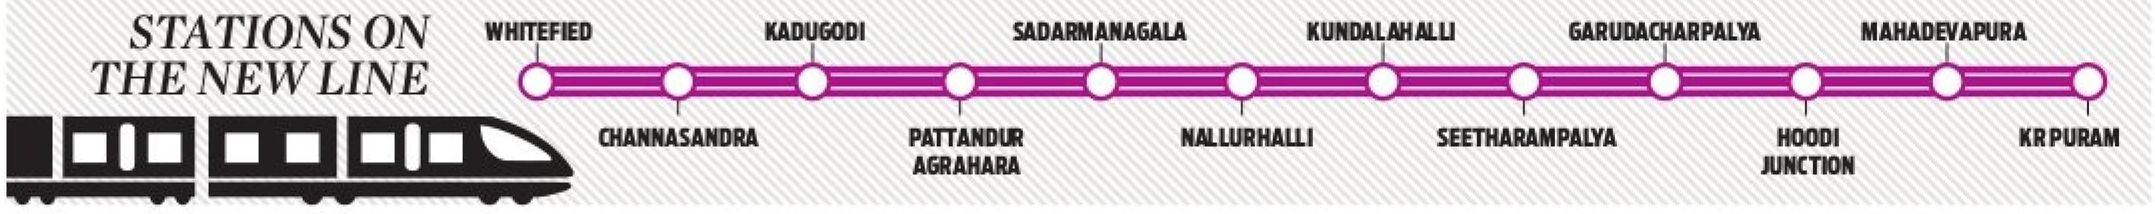
He told The New Indian Express, "Bengaluru has 28 assembly constituencies, and its own challenges, which have been ignored by the BJP. The Congress is concerned about the security of women, especially those who work. The party will come up with a special programme that will enable better security," said Reddy.

He said the focus will be on improving the living conditions of slum-dwellers and giving them better infrastructure. The party will also come up with an apartment wing to address the issues and challenges of apartment dwellers.

"Apartment dwellers have many problems. The party held talks and decided it will also hold a conference to include their ideas in the manifesto. The idea is to have better infrastructure and ensure there is no flooding, like what happened in Mahadevapura and Yelahanka last year," Reddy said.

Prof Rajeev Gowda, chairman, Karnataka Congress Research department, also said the party will be inviting heads of various apartments and committees on Saturday to offer their suggestions and speak about issues they face.

STATIONS ON THE NEW LINE



Crucial link missing, but public awaits Metro launch

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

DESPITE non-completion of the crucial Metro network link between Baiyappanahalli and K R Puram, thousands of Bengalureans, particularly the IT crowd, eagerly awaits the inauguration of the 13.7-km line between Whitefield and K R Puram by PM Modi on Saturday. The line will be thrown open to the public on Sunday.

There is eagerness among the public to travel by the Metro, as was evident among people outside the decorated KR Puram Metro Station. The station was attractively lit up with pink and green decorations, to signify its two lines.

Among those awaiting the launch keenly is Drisya M, employed at an MNC. "I benefit the most and just cannot wait for it," she says. Her residence is in KR Puram, while her office is in Whitefield. At present, an office cab comes to a common point near KR Puram railway station to pick up all employees, for which a nominal monthly sum of Rs 1,000 is charged per person.

"With cab timings being erratic, I choose to commute on my own. I pay between Rs 280 and Rs 300 per day to reach office. While returning, I take the office cab as it has fixed timings. My house is just 5 minutes walking distance from KR Puram Station. I need not depend on anyone now and will be on my own," she told TNIE.

Ambrutha M's husband is an IT professional at TESCO, and his name has been withheld. "My husband works in the IT team, and is awaiting the launch every day. With cabs constantly cancelling bookings, Metro would be a real blessing," she said. "I love the malls in Whitefield and will definitely travel by Metro to shop there."

A few IT professionals said they have 'Work From Home' for half the week, unlike in pre-Covid days, but it would be a major convenience to report to work post the launch.

Sanjeev Dyamannavar, an urban transport expert, said, "Hoodi station is packed with the IT crowd alighting from suburban trains. This will be a boon to so many of them as they will now opt to alight at Whitefield or Mahadevapura stations. FILM CITY WILL BE ON PAR WITH GLOBAL STANDARDS: CM

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai said the film city planned in Mysuru will be developed to global standards.

After inaugurating the 14th edition of the Bengaluru International Film Festival (BIFFEs) here on Thursday, Bommai said the government will be inviting experts from abroad to design and develop the film city soon. "The studio will have state-of-the-art technology to cater to the needs of filmmakers," he said, adding that he wants even Hollywood filmmakers to consider the facility for film production.

Highlighting the relevance of the movies to be screened at the 14th BIFFEs, the CM said he is proud of the Kannada filmmakers who made it big on the global arena. "The pace of movies has changed and viewer preferences are also fast-changing. Those who adapt to these changes and focus on the stories of their people and surroundings will be successful," he opined.

Bommai said the government is supporting the Kannada film industry to the fullest. "We have increased the amount of subsidy, besides increasing the number of films eligible for a subsidy from 125 to 200. Responding to industry demand, the government has agreed to open small screens in Tier I and II cities," he added.

Meanwhile, he said that the memorial of late actor and politician Ambarish will be inaugurated and the Race Course Road will be renamed after him, on Monday. "The government will also take up the work of developing the Puneeth Rajkumar memorial this year," the CM said. Noted screenwriter and MP V Vijayendra Prasad, veteran filmmaker Govind Nihalani, actors Saptami Gowda and Abhishek Ambareesh, Revenue Minister R Ashoka and others were present.

BBMP says road in lake temporary, will be cleared

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

BBMP officials have clarified that the road project through the Hosakerehalli Lake in Rajarajeshwari Nagar was only a temporary arrangement, and will be cleared immediately.

BBMP Special Commissioner for Infrastructure Ravindra PN arrived on the scene, along with other officials, and said the restoration project of the lake is under way.

"As sewage pipe diversion work was going on at the Rajakaluve on the eastern side of the lake, to carry utilities and raw materials, a temporary road was being constructed. It was not to be a permanent structured," he said.

As the issue became sensitive and with officials not sharing any information about the work, and a poster about silt removal coming up a day after the uproar, Ravindra directed the Lake Chief Engineer Vijaykumar Haridas to immediately put up a notice board regarding the work, along with contractor details.

De-silting work

Earlier, MLA Munirathna had said the work was under the CM's special grant. The work was related to clearing of silt from the lake, deposited over a 100-year period.

Also, a senior official of the BBMP Lake Division said the Palike has laid a 25-ft-wide dirt road on the lake, which is being used to move vehicles to remove silt. A mud mound found inside the lake enclosure is built for vehicles to move inside to de-silt the water body. Later, the temporary mound will be removed.

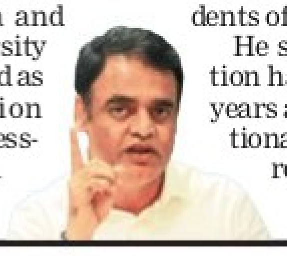
'Knowledge City' near Bengaluru to invite foreign universities

ENS @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai said that the government is thinking of developing a knowledge city near Bengaluru over 2,000 acres of land, for foreign universities to set up campuses. Speaking at the inauguration of the new Bengaluru City University campus on Thursday, he said that the aim of the knowledge city is to have all the best educational institutions and universities at one location in the state. This would include institutions from India and overseas. "This university space will be developed as a Bengaluru education district. If this is successful, this concept will be extended to the rest of the state. It is our dream to build a knowledge city near Bengaluru to be able to provide the best possible opportunities to students of the state," he said.



He said the recommendation had been made several years ago to create an educational district, and the current scenario can help in this, with the recent announcement that students can switch colleges and universities mid-course, as per the NEP.

"We are thinking about developing the knowledge city as a way to create a common area for foreign and Indian educational institutions, which will attract the maximum number of students," the CM said.

Meanwhile, Higher Education Minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan said there is currently a gap between the education system and entrepreneurship, which needs to be addressed. In this direction, having state universities be open towards change will help, especially with foreign universities setting up their own campuses in the state.

Four more modules launched as part of UUCMS

BENGALURU: Higher Education Minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan launched four more modules of the Unified University and College Management System (UUCMS) on Thursday. A total of 10 modules have been proposed under UUCMS, which will help in facilitating various systems in universities and colleges. The modules -- admissions, academics and class monitoring, examinations, human resource management, affiliation, student support, asset management, library management, financial planning and monitoring, and research development. The modules are currently being rolled out in a phased manner. The academic, admission and examination modules have already been launched and are currently being implemented. Narayan launched the affiliation (accreditation), student support, HR management, and financial planning and monitoring modules on Thursday. The financial planning module will help accurately account for expenditures and income at all government universities, with the minister stating that it would remove any chances of illegal movement. As part of the HR management module, details of all staff and educational qualifications of colleges and universities will be available. ENS

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

24th March: Do you fancy a holiday in space? We already have tourists taking short trips in orbit, but the price is high. But some of us can remember when air travel was a rarity – and look where we are now. I am looking forward to the first gathering of astrologers way up there in space, making new forecasts for a new world!

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)

Your stars begin to look simultaneously more relaxed and more passionate, which means that you may be propelled headlong into a bout of sheer pleasure. Creative activities now require boundless energy and limitless commitment. In fact, there's room for deep satisfaction in even the dullest of duties.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)

The prospect of a move of home or some other major domestic upheaval must now look more attractive. At the very least you should bring as much colour into your home and family life as you possibly can. That's no more than you deserve. Plus, what's good for you could be right for everyone.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)

It's decision time. Or is it? The fact is that while you may be pushed into making a choice, probably an emotional one, it looks very certain that whatever is agreed now will be altered again next month. Mind you, you will very soon make unexpected gains in a personal area. That's the good news!

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)

This is certainly a rare moment of passion. If all is calm on the surface, beware, for underneath you're like a seething volcano waiting to erupt. It seems that your emotional security is at stake. You just need to feel that you're appreciated. That's all!

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)

There's a real planetary traffic jam in your sign today, with planets shuffling here, there and everywhere. You may permit yourself a spell of confusion, and by all means wallow in your emotions. If there are important matters to deal with, call the experts!

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)

One positive way to use your current planetary energy is to dip into mystical and spiritual realities, searching for the pattern underlying your day-to-day affairs. Some sort of selfless involvement in a charity or other noble enterprise is now increasingly likely.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)

Everything hinges around what friends feel, say and do. The fact is, though, that they may be saying one thing and doing something else! One way or the other, your social stars are looking more intense than at any time since last year. If there's any chance that you can help soothe a loved one's nerves, please do so!

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)

The professional dimension in your horoscope is looking so strong that, if you're unhappy at work, the pressure to change jobs in mid-stream may be irresistible. It's also now time to seek status in your community. Perhaps you'll be turning the clock back, completing a task that you began a long time ago.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)

This is one of those rare moments when you all too easily get stuck in some sort of dogma about the way people should behave. If you get too upset about rules and arbitrary expectations, you'll miss out on the richness of day-to-day human experience. You'll also sacrifice a passing opportunity.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)

There does now seem to be some sort of turning point in your financial affairs, perhaps one which will colour your prosperity for the years to come. Don't be afraid to turn the clock back for, if you lay the past to rest, you will be much better at dealing with the present.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)

You really must listen to other people today, and even bend over backwards to see their points of view. This may go against the grain, but is a good strategy because you need to let partners get things off their chest. You'll be able to take the lead again as soon as the air is cleared.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)

Busy times lie ahead. There is a great deal of work to do, and that doesn't only refer to paid employment. Relationships have to be worked at as well, and you should remember that the best partnerships must be based on genuinely shared activities and interests.

Gang of eight cheats people using RBI seal

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE CCB police have arrested a gang of eight on charges of cheating people by creating fake documents using the seal and logo of the Reserve Bank of India (RBI).

Cops probe suicide angle in conductor's death

Victim purchased petrol and diesel from nearby fuel station; cops await autopsy report

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

TWO weeks after a 43-year-old bus conductor, Muthaiah, was charred to death while he was sleeping in a BMTC bus in Byadarahalli area, sleuths suspect that the victim might have committed suicide.

However, they are still unable to ascertain why the bus exactly caught fire. The investigators are not ruling out the possibility that Muthaiah might have committed suicide. Investigation revealed that he had purchased diesel and petrol from a nearby petrol bunk, which he would have used to set the bus ablaze and self-immolate. His movements near the bunk have been captured on CCTV cameras.

The sleuths pointed out that the purchase was made through a UPI transaction.

Regarding their investigation into the suicide angle, Laxman Nimbargi, DCP (West), said that investigation is still underway, and they are awaiting the postmortem report.

The incident took place in D Group Employees Layout bus stand in Lingadheeranahalli in Byadarahalli police station limits around 4.45am on March 10. The BMTC bus, bearing registration number KA-57-F-2069, belonged to Sumanahalli bus depot number 31. The bus driver, 39-year-old Prakash, was sleeping inside a room of the depot when the incident happened.

4 cops detain man, demand ₹45L

ENS @ Bengaluru

FOUR police personnel, including a police sub-inspector, of Marathahalli police station were accused of kidnapping and demanding a ransom from a man, showed a complaint filed by Ramanjani. A suspect was detained by the accused for questioning in connection with a case of tiger pelt, which was later found to be fake.

Police examined the contact list of the suspect, and summoned Ramanjani, who was detained on March 18. The accused demanded Rs 45 lakh, and threatened that if he fails to give it, he would be spending the rest of his life in jail.

He was released later as the police did not find any evidence against him. On March 21, Ramanjani filed a complaint with Bagalur police station, naming the police personnel, who allegedly wrongfully kept him in confinement, and demanded ransom. The Bagalur police, who have registered a case of kidnapping for ransom, wrongful confinement, and other offences, arrested KL Harish, 44, head constable and two others — Shabir Khan, 35 and Zakir Hussain, 30 — for assisting the other accused. Sub inspector Rangesh and two other policemen Mahadeva Nayak and Mahesh are absconding.

City Police Commissioner Pratap Reddy said they are looking for the other accused, and added there is zero tolerance regarding such incidents, and that stringent action will be taken against the guilty.

RETURN TO WORK OR FACE DISMISSAL, NHM WORKERS WARNED

NAMRATA SINDWANI @ Bengaluru

CONTRACT workers under the National Health Mission (NHM) have been given final warning notices to withdraw the 40-day-long strike and report to work, or face legal action. A press release issued by NHM notified the District Health and Family Welfare Association to organise an emergency meeting and dismiss all the workers who do not return to work within 48 hours.

Contractual workers in the state have been staging a protest since February 13, demanding emoluments similar to that of permanent employees. The indefinite strike, NHM workers said, will end only when the health department promises to fulfil all their demands. In an order dated March 4, the health department offered to increase salaries for contract employees by 15%. According to the order, the hike applies to those with a monthly salary of less than Rs 20,000 at the time of joining, and for medical officers with over five years of experience. For NHM contractual specialists, the hike was proposed to be 5 per cent for ones with 3-5 years of experience, 10 per cent for those with 5-10 years of experience and 15% for ones with over 15 years of experience.

NHM workers were unhappy with this proposal and continued the strike. They demanded regularisation of all workers, providing them equal rights as permanent employees. Dr Naveen Bhat, director, NHM, told TNIE that despite enforcing the Essential Services Maintenance Act, the workers have not returned. He said in Udupi the strike had been called off, and employees in other districts were also returning to work.

He said other states were consulted and it was found that only Manipur has regularised contract workers. The small population there made it easy for them to implement it. He reassured the workers that their demands are being considered by the health department, but warned that if they don't return to work, strict action will be taken.

Irked over delay in holding polls to elect chairmen for four standing committees of Mysuru City Corporation, Congress corporators led by Opposition Leader in the Council and former mayor Ayub Khan staged a protest in Mysuru on Thursday

CM sets up corporations as outreach to smaller communities

While BJP hopes it will help party garner votes in Assembly polls, KPCC working president Saleem Ahmed calls it an election gimmick

NEW CORPORATIONS

FEB 20: Karnataka Stae Ediga Development Corporation; Karnataka State Ganiga Development Corporation; Karnataka State Hadapada Development Corporation

MARCH 10: Karnataka State Balija Development Corporation

MARCH 17: Karnataka Kumbara Development Corporation

MARCH 20: Karnataka State Kodava Development Corporation; Karnataka State Weavers Development Corporation

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

AHEAD of assembly elections, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai's government is setting up several development corporations to woo members of smaller communities, targeting particular castes and communities. While the BJP is hoping to garner votes, the Opposition has slammed it as an election gimmick.

Since February 2023, the Chief Minister's Office has issued orders to constitute at least seven development corporations for Kodavas, Kumbaras (potters), weavers, Edigas, Ganigas, Balijas and more. Each of these communities has several sub-castes, and this way, the government is trying to reach out to them. BJP sources said this is an attempt to calm down members of communities which are demanding an increase in reservation quota. "Increasing quota or including them under one quota cannot be done in a day or two. It is a long process, and with elections just a few weeks away, this is the best thing," sources said.

During the 2019 bypolls, then Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa made a similar attempt to set up development corporations to woo various communities in certain constituencies. He had ordered for Kaadu Golla, Maratha and Veerashaiva Lingayat boards and corporations, and also announced funds for them. However, the BJP had time to put them in action.

KPCC working president Saleem Ahmed told TNIE that with just a few days to go for elections, this is only a poll gimmick. "The BJP government should have done it four years ago. Now the CM is trying to fool people. Boards and corporations need at least six months to start functioning. When existing boards and corporations are not functioning as they have no funds, how will Bommai give money for these?" he questioned.

Community leaders and organisations are lobbying with Bommai for the corporations. Karnataka State Namadeva Simpi Association president NM Suresh appealed to the CM to issue an order for a Simpi corporation, with over 8 lakh people residing in Shiggavi, Hubballi and other places in North Karnataka.

CM RUBBISHES CONG CLAIMS ON SC/ST QUOTA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday said that the State Government has already initiated the process for recruitment and promotions as per its orders increasing the reservation for SCs from 15% to 17% and STs from 3% to 7%.

The CM rubbished the Congress' allegation that the government had not taken any measures to implement its decision on increasing reservation for SC/STs and get it included in the 9th schedule of the Constitution.

The State Government is committed to including it in the 9th schedule and the process has already been started, he said and added that the Congress leaders have no moral right to criticise the government.

The CM launched the Swami Vivekananda Yuva Shakti scheme, Vidyanidhi scheme for autorickshaws and cab drivers' children and other programmes on Thursday.

The CM also launched the 'Punyakoti' cow adoption scheme. He said the scheme was introduced for the protection of cows in the state.

Caller from PMO told us to celebrate: Panchamasali seer

ENS @ Bengaluru

AS the Panchamasali community continues its struggle on Day 70 on Friday, all eyes will be on the cabinet meeting in the evening, for the decision on the contentious reservation issue.

Kudalasangama seer Basava Jaya Mrutyunjaya Swami said, "We have called a meeting of the state executive of the Panchamasali Lingayat Mahasabha, and a meeting of those agitating for reservation on March 25, to respond as a community to what the government and cabinet decide on Friday.'' He told TNIE, "I received a call from the Prime Minister's Office on Wednesday, and the caller requested me not to continue with the agitation, or protest in the park on the occasion of Ugadi, and instead, to celebrate because the government would respond favourably."

"I believe CM Bommai and the state government have been given instructions, and will respond favourably to our demands. We will see what comes out of the meeting and take a decision," he said. "We have called a meeting of the state executive and will meet on Saturday, and if possible on Sunday too, to respond to the developments."

Govt undertaking a fair approach: HC

MEHTA informed the court that his oral submission to that effect could be taken as an undertaking on behalf of the state government. The undertaking in writing would be submitted to the court in addition to the statement of objection filed by the government to the petition.

He clarified this while giving an undertaking with reference to one of the main apprehensions expressed by the petitioner that the inclusion Panchamasali Lingayat sub-sect in the existing Category 2A list would impact members of castes already in the category.

The court observed that the undertaking given on behalf of the state government is a fair approach in the matter. Accordingly, the affidavit to that effect was filed before the court in the afternoon.

When the petitioner's counsel opposed vacating the status quo order, the court observed that it cannot stop the government from taking a decision when it is not directly impacting the petitioner's contention. If any such action is taken by the government directly or indirectly resulting in the breach of such an undertaking, the petitioner is entitled to act. "Why other action has to be stalled? The government may take some decisions. Your apprehension is taken care of. Ultimately that action should be the final outcome of the petition pending," the court told the petitioner's counsel.

On January 12, the court passed the interim order directing the state government to maintain status quo on the interim report of the Karnataka State Commission for Backward Classes with regard to the demand for inclusion of Panchamasali Lingayat sub-sect in Category 2A. Meanwhile, the Commission submitted its interim report to the court in a sealed cover on February 3.

Devanahalli Congress leaders resign en masse

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

WITH the Congress delaying its first list of candidates for the Karnataka Assembly polls, differences among different camps have come to the fore with supporters of former union minister KH Muniyappa and former deputy chief minister Dr G Parameshwara locking horns over the Devanahalli seat. The list was expected on Wednesday, but now it is likely to be released in a day or two.

In a major development on Thursday, the presidents of different Congress blocks in Devanahalli, including Bengaluru Rural Lok Sabha Youth Congress president, resigned en masse opposing reports of the party fielding Muniyappa from the constituency. They consider Muniyappa as an outsider to the constituency. Most of them are in favour of AC Srinivas, the man Friday of Parameshwara. But both the SC right and left community leaders were in favour of Muniyappa and did not resign.

"It has come to our notice that the high command has decided to field KH Muniyappa and entire Devarahalli leadership is resolved to oppose him," the 22 leaders stated in a letter to the AICC leadership. As many as 14 aspirants have shown interest to fight from Devanahalli which is reserved for the SC category.

"Parameshwara had lobbied for AC Srinivas though the latter had lost from Mahadevapura twice," said one of the aspirants. But the aspirant clarified that if the party fields Muniyappa, both the SC left and right community, with an electorate population of over 70,000, will work for him. "If Srinivas gets the ticket, we will ensure his defeat and in Koratagere, Parameshwara will also bite the dust as Muniyappa has an influence on the SC left community," he elaborated.

HDK writes to ryots, recalls loan waiver

Bengaluru : Former CM HD Kumaraswamy penned a emotional letter to the farmers' community, recalling his efforts to waive off farm loans, and accused the BJP government of diverting funds earmarked for the waiver. JDS sources said the letter is targeted to 27 lakh farmer families who benefited from the loan waiver that he had implemented. "In 2006, when you all were in debt, I had waived off Rs 2,600 crore. Then DCM BS Yediyurappa opposed it, but I did not give in to his pressure," he claimed. In 2018, coalition partner Congress had also opposed loan waiver, he said.

Kharge's 'no show' helps BJP bag K'buragi mayoral posts

RAMAKRISHNA BADSESHI @ Kalaburagi

THE absence of All-India Congress Committee (AICC) president Mallikarjun Kharge during elections to the posts of mayor and deputy mayor of Kalaburagi Mahanagara Palike (KMP) here on Thursday proved costly for the Congress, which lost both posts by one vote.

While BJP candidates Vishal Darge (Ward 46) and Shivanand Piste (Ward 25) were elected mayor and deputy mayor, respectively, by securing 33 votes each.

They defeated Congress candidate Prakash Kapanoor (Ward 12) and Congress backed JDS candidate Vijayalakshmi (Ward 12) by just one vote. They secured 32 votes.

In the 55-member KMP council, the Congress has 27 seats, BJP 22, JDS 4, and two independents. Of them, one from BJP and an independent corporator were disqualified, taking the strength of corporators eligible to vote to 53.

The Congress and JDS had an understanding on supporting each other for mayoral posts. Besides JDS' support, the Congress had Rajya Sabha Member Mallikarjun Kharge, Gulbarga-North MLA Kaneez Fatima and MLC Chandrashekhar Patil Humnabad as its voters, taking its strength to 34.

The BJP has 22 corporators, 14 other elected representatives, including MP Umesh Jadhav, two MLAs and nine MLCs, as its voters.

According to information received here, the Congress and BJP held hectic parleys on Wednesday on mayoral elections. Kharge, who was in Bengaluru on Wednesday, was ready to visit Kalaburagi to participate in the elections if the authorities adopted the "toss" rule to declare the winners in case of a tie. But the local unit of the party allegedly told him that JDS corporator Alimuddin Patel (Ward 42) is "missing" and there are remote chances of the Congress winning the top posts.

As Kharge felt that his visit to Kalaburagi would not help his party win the mayoral posts, he flew back to Delhi.

But to Congress' misfortune, BJP MLC Laxman Savadi did not participate in the mayoral elections. This helped BJP bag the two coveted posts.

Addressing reporters, Gulbarga-South BJP MLA Dattatreya Patil Revoor said that his party won the mayoral posts after a gap of 12 years.

No one can dislodge Kharge: Chinchansur

RAMAKRISHNA BADSESHI @ Kalaburagi

SENIOR politician Baburao Chinchansur, BJP MLC who quit the saffron party on Monday and joined the Congress on Wednesday evening, said it was "back to home" for him.

On his first visit to the Congress office in Kalaburagi on Thursday, he said that AICC President Mallikarjun Kharge was a pillar of the party in Kalyana Karnataka, and nobody could dislodge him. He declared that he will make all efforts to ensure that Congress candidates win all seats in Kalyana Karnataka region.

He claimed that the BJP had not only cheated him, but also his Koli Kabbaliga community, by promising to include it in the ST category if he joins the party. He claimed he joined the saffron party in the larger interest of his community, and campaigned for the BJP in the Lok Sabha elections and assembly byelections, but the BJP did not fulfil its promise.

Chinchansur said he has not lobbied for any posts at any point of time, and he and his wife were serving society without expecting anything. Yet, there are strong rumours that he has pleaded before Congress leaders to give him the Gurmitkal assembly ticket.

Congress district unit president Jagadev Guttedar and former MLC Allamaprabhu Patil were present.

The Kalyana Karnataka leader, known for being outspoken and a colourful personality, joined the BJP in 2019, teaming up with former minister Mallikayya Guttedar to help Dr Umesh Jadhav win the Lok Sabha elections against Mallikarjun Kharge in 2019. Kharge lost, and both Chinchansur and Guttedar repeatedly claimed that it due to their campaign.

Bhatkal Tanzeem not to support Muslim candidate, faces protest

SUBHASH CHANDRA NS @ Bhatkal (Uttara Kannada)

THE Bhatkal Tanzeem has decided not to back a Muslim candidate in the Karnataka Assembly election from Bhatkal-Honnavar constituency and instead support a candidate from a secular party.

According to sources, the organisation took this decision in "the interest of the community members and to keep away communal forces".

"A meeting was held on March 20 where it was decided that this time the tanzeem will support a secular party candidate so that there is no split in votes," an informed source told TNIE. This decision has come as a jolt to parties like Aam Aadmi Party and Socialist Democratic Party of India. The AAP has already announced a Muslim candidate from Bhatkal, while the SDPI is inclined towards fielding a Muslim candidate.

Interestingly, the meeting was chaired by Inayathullah Shabandri, president of the tanzeem, who had contested as JDS candidate in the last two polls.

Bhatkal-Honnavar constituency has a population of 1.85 lakh, including about 50,000 Muslims, which includes both Navyth and Daccani Muslims. The Tanzeem members numbering about a 100 have been elected by the mosques of their respective locality. "Any mosque which has about 80 members will have a representation in the Tanzeem. Those mosques which have more members will have more than one representation," explained Inayathullah Gawai, a journalist and a social worker.

Meanwhile, women in Bhatkal on Wednesday staged a protest outside the Tanzeem's office against its decision to not support a Muslim candidate. The women said that they will opt for NOTA in the polls if the Tanzeem does not change its decision. The women raised slogans against the decision saying that the Tanzeem cannot take such a decision. They also submitted a memorandum.

HC puts brakes on transport strike

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Thursday restrained employees of transport corporations from launching a strike for three weeks, till the scheduled conciliation on April 6. The employees had announced an indefinite strike from March 24 for their various demands, including a 25 per cent wage hike.

A division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice Ashok S Kinagi restrained the Sarige Nigamagala Naukarara Samana Manaskara Vedike (SNSMV), a union of the employees of the transport corporations, from going ahead with their strike after hearing a PIL filed by social activist HM Venkatesh, 63, of Shivamogga district.

The counsel of the petitioner contended that the strike will bring to a grinding halt public transport and service, which would cause inconvenience and hardships to health sector staffers, and students who have to reach exam centres.

Considering this, the court said, "we direct SNSMV not to proceed with their strike for three weeks till the scheduled date of conciliation. This interim order would not come in the way of the conciliation on April 6, 2023".

The government's advocate informed the court that conciliation process has been initiated and the SNSMV had issued a notice on March 8 invoking the provisions of the Industrial Disputes Act. After which, the Labour Commissioner fixed a meeting for conciliation on March 20, 2023. Since there was no outcome in that meeting, the conciliation was deferred to April 6, 2023, the advocate said, pleading for time to file a reply.

Desilting sans EC: NGT slaps ₹50cr fine

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE National Green Tribunal (NGT) on Thursday slapped a Rs 50 crore penalty on Irrigation Department for failing to take environmental clearance (EC) before desilting and sand extraction from water bodies.

The NGT also ordered that the chief secretary should direct the all district collectors to take EC before undertaking desilting/dredging.

The tribunal said this should be especially followed when the desilted and dredged material (including silt or sand) is sold for public or government projects.

The NGT was hearing a case of desiltation work involving extraction of 14,51,680 MT of sand from the back waters of Adhyapadi Dam on Phalguni river in Mangaluru and Shamburu Dam on Netravathi river in Bantwal.

The NGT also pulled up the SEIAA, and said that they were mute spectators when the EC was not taken. The order stated: "Despite NGT orders repeatedly holding that EC is required when de-silted material is used for commercial purpose, the current orders of the district collector is in gross violation."

The tribunal noted when the EIA notification, 2006, exempts dredging and desilting of dams only for the purpose of maintenance, upkeep and disaster management, it should not involve commercial sand mining. In case of commercial sand mining, EC should be obtained where several stages of screening are involved.

The sand policy, notified on May 5, 2020 by the state government was noted by the tribunal. It also clarified that the Sustainable Sand Mining Guidelines, 2016, by the ministry of environment describes de-silting activity as involving extraction of sand through mining operation. In this case, the work order was issued by DCs without any district survey report before granting mining lease.

YSRC GETS SIX

TDP candidate wins MLC seat

ENS @Vijayawada

IN a set back to the ruling YSRC and boosting the morale of TDP, the latter had wrenched one MLC seat under MLA quota though it did not have adequate numbers. The YSRC won six MLC seats. Two YSRC MLAs, apart from the two rebel legislators, voted for TDP candidate.

TDP's Panchumarthi Anuradha secured 23 votes as against the required 22 and the party's strength of 19. Of a total 7 MLCs, the YSRC won six. While five candidates of the YSRC polled 22 votes each, two of them - Jayamangala Venkataramana and Kola Guruvulu - got 21 each and Guruvulu was eliminated after counting the second preferential votes.

The TDP technically had a strength of 23 MLAs but with four of them supporting the YSRC, its strength is limited to 19. Of the total 175 MLAs, the YSRC has 151 and also has the support of five MLAs including four from the TDP and one from Janasena. Though it had a total tally of 156 MLAs, all 7 candidates fielded by the party managed to get only 152 votes.

KTR to send legal notice to Bandi, Reddy

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Hyderabad

BRS working president and IT Minister KT Rama Rao on Thursday said that he was sending legal notices to BJP state president Bandi Sanjay Kumar and TPCC president A Revanth Reddy for making "false and baseless allegations" against him on the TSPSC paper leak case.

In a statement, Rao alleged that the BJP state president and PCC chief were dragging him into the TSPSC's paper leak case for political gains and to defame the state government. That was why he was sending legal notices to them, Rao said. He reiterated the TSPSC was a constitutional body and an independent agency. "Without having this basic knowledge, the BJP and the Congress chiefs are dragging me into the controversy," Rao alleged.

The commission was established to complete the recruitment process independently and without the involvement of the government.

Opposition leaders were trying to give a picture that the entire process was being done under the state government, Rao said. Rao alleged that the Opposition leaders were mentioning his name with ulterior political motive. Reddy alleged that Rs 10,000 crore worth Covid-19 vaccine scam took place in the state and the state government demolished the old secretariat buildings for the sake of Nizam's ornaments and became laughing stock later, Rao recalled.

A SENTENCE OVER A PHRASE: SURAT HANDS SPOTLIGHT BACK TO RAHUL

With a Surat court on Thursday sentencing Congress leader Rahul Gandhi to two years in jail for criminal defamation of Prime Minister Narendra Modi for making unacceptable comments on his surname, it ironically pitchforked him as the tallest leader of the Opposition at present. Even parties that owe their sustenance to nibbling away at the Congress vote bank have vociferously opposed the judgment. The verdict came at a time when non-Congress Opposition chief ministers have ganged up to set the tone for the Lok Sabha elections in 2024. As first reported by this newspaper, they have asked the Congress to open seat-sharing talks with them while freezing the leadership question of the united Opposition till after the poll verdict. If the premise for their arm-twisting was that the Congress did not have the stomach to confront Modi's election juggernaut head-on, the Gujarat court verdict appears to have given organic momentum to Rahul's popularity that reached its first peak with his Bharat Jodo Yatra. His consistency in attacking the BJP where it hurts is beyond compare in the Opposition pantheon. The Mamatas, Nitishs and Pawars can no longer consider him a pushover.

Rahul's off-the-cuff remark on the Modi surname was decidedly in bad taste, but legal eagles are divided on whether it merited such a harsh sentence. He subsequently got bail and will contest the verdict. Though Rahul is not a gifted speaker, his sincere purpose has made him an acceptable leader in the Opposition space. The episode also indicates he should continue doing what he is good at, though sounding repetitive. It is for his minders to ensure he does not attempt improvisations as he did in Karnataka in the run-up to the last Lok Sabha elections, which landed him in the current trouble. As they say in cricket, play with a straight bat; don't fish outside the off stump.

When a ruling party behaves like the Opposition by stalling Parliament, it would indicate the arrival of a towering personality who needs to be taken down. That was the message the BJP sent when it went after Rahul's 'democracy under siege' statement in London and tried to get him disqualified from the House on a flimsy pretext. Its drumbeat against an 'entitled dynast' versus a 'wronged' Modi will grow louder. The 2024 polls will determine how strong Rahul's word is as compared to Modi.

CANNOT PLAY POLITICS WITH EXAM LEAK CASE

Nidhulu, Neellu, Niyamakaalu (funds, water and jobs)—this slogan galvanised scores of students to spearhead the separate statehood agitation, which culminated in the creation of today's Telangana. Nine long years have elapsed since, and once again, jobs are taking centre stage as it has come to light that the Telangana State Public Service Commission (TSPSC) leaked question papers like a sieve. For the beleaguered K Chandrashekar Rao government firefighting on different fronts, the scandal couldn't have come at a worse time.

Question paper leaks aren't uncommon, be it board exams or recruitment tests. This has been a recurring problem in several states, including Rajasthan, Gujarat, Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh and Assam. However, what sets Telangana apart is its history. The TSPSC has conducted quite a few exams but the revelation that not one but at least four exams, including Group-I prelims—the first since the formation of the state—have been compromised is not only disturbing but also serious enough to ignite the fire of discontent among the unemployed youth. The state government promptly constituted a special investigation team, apprehending nine suspects. It is pressing ahead by summoning several others, including leaders of opposition parties who have levelled allegations against IT minister K T Rama Rao's aides, asking them to submit evidence, if any, in their possession. The question to be asked is whether it is necessary to focus on politicians instead of using time and energy to get to the bottom of the case. The point is an investigation into as grave an issue as this should not turn political, and it must be brought to a logical end at the earliest.

It is further imperative to restore TSPSC's credibility and the people's confidence in its ability and integrity. Its chairman, B Janardhan Reddy, should step down owning moral responsibility. Heads of different recruitment boards did resign in the wake of similar failures in Gujarat and Assam not so long ago.

This being a sensitive issue, the ruling BRS and opposition parties should exercise restraint. Regrettably, they are accusing each other of masterminding the leaks. What's more, state Congress chief Revanth Reddy has given a regional twist, pointing at the Andhra origins of the main accused and an investigating officer. This is reprehensible. Given the fast developing political turns, the onus is on the TSPSC and the government to get their act together before the fire spreads to university campuses.

QUICK TAKE

READYING FOR POWER DEMAND SURGE

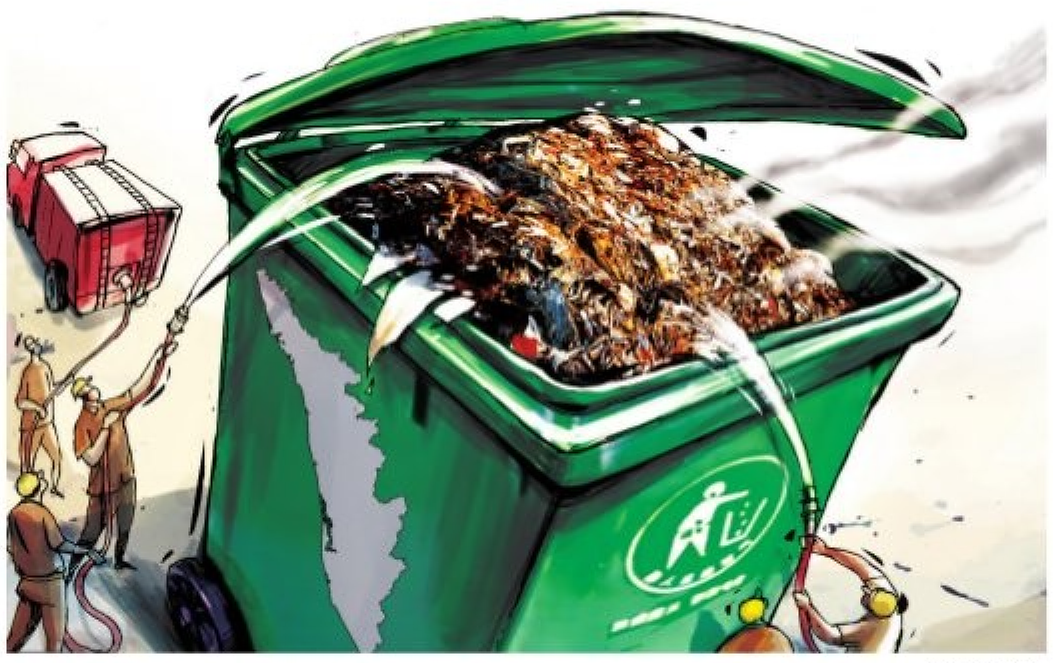
The weather is enjoyable in the north but brace for a hot summer soon. The government has woken up to prepare for a sudden surge in power demand in April. Gas imports have been hurriedly okayed. Imported coal-fired plants have received the green signal to augment capacity. Other ad hoc measures are on the anvil. The problem areas are many, hampering a permanent solution. It'll take six years for new thermal plans to become operational. Capacity addition through renewable energy faces storage issues. Gas plants are idling because gas prices are high. A long-term coordinated inter-ministerial initiative alone is the answer.

The dump yard fire happened because for whatever reason, Kochi did not follow the tested and proven methods that were being used in other towns in Kerala

BRAHMAPURAM WASTE YARD IMBROGLIO

DR T M THOMAS ISAAC

Former finance minister of Kerala



SOUMYADIP SINHA

In the early 2010s, there was a spate of agitations in Kerala against urban waste dumping sites, most of which were located outside towns. The tradition was that waste from houses, establishments and street sweepings would be transported to these sites and dumped. An attempt was made to segregate the waste at the yards and windrow compost the organic waste. Private service providers set up BOT plants in these yards. But these centralised plants proved to be failures without exception. This crisis ignited the protests.

What went wrong? Failure to segregate at source became a major impediment for effective windrow composting. In most plants, waste was composted after preliminary sorting and then the compost was segregated from non-organic material through mechanical sieving. This resulted in a relatively longer duration for composting and frequent breakdowns of sieving machinery. In most places, the facilities for treatment of leachate proved to be inadequate. Almost everywhere, people around the plants physically blocked the movement of waste.

When the rural people raised the slogan "Not in My Backyard" (title of a book on solid waste management by Sunitha Narain and Swati Singh), all the dumping yards had to be closed. There was no choice other than for citizens to take responsibility and process the waste in their own backyards. Thus was born in the mid 2010s the movement for decentralised waste management in Kerala.

Decentralised waste management or processing waste at source does not imply that all waste can or needs to be processed at source. Decentralisation follows the principle of subsidiarity. All that can be done effectively at the household/establishment level should be undertaken there and only the rest must be taken to the next level.

Alappuzha town, one of the first towns to take up decentralised waste management, successfully demonstrated the effectiveness of small-scale community composting centres. Besides the traditional biogas units, several user-friendly kitchen bin compost models were innovated and are widely used today. The more traditional compost pits would be sufficient in rural areas. Most towns have also now set up windrow composting centres where excess waste from shops and community composting centres are processed. The best example is that of Attingal, where such a composting centre has been effectively functioning for the last two decades.

The non-organic waste is collected from households and shops by members of the green army for a user fee. Material collection centres are established for detailed segregation of non-organic waste before sale to vendors for recycling, reuse or landfilling.

There are significant variations in waste management between local governments. At many places, the green army also provides support and advice on waste management and measures to reduce waste. They can be organised in social enterprise mode with income from the user fee and supplementary income from sale of waste, inoculum products, alternative products and services.

The best examples of the social enterprise mode of waste management are towns like Vadakara, Kunnamkulam and Guruvayur, which have demonstrated that waste management can be a profitable social enterprise.

Thalipparambu and Attingal municipalities have another variant where the centralised facilities are managed by small-scale private entrepreneurs. It is in the market for final disposal of non-organic waste where private vendors thrive. There is also a public Clean Kerala Company that often mediates between the private vendors. Already, 16 private plants to process slaughter waste are operational in the state. Without broad-based awareness and participation, this decentralised waste management is not possible. It was in recognition of this aspect that the state government launched the Haritha Keralam Mission to support local governments.

As a participant observer of the decentralised waste management movement in Kerala, I am saddened that the fire and fumes of Brahmapuram have cast a shadow of shame on the efforts so far towards a Clean Kerala. There are around 30 dumping yards in Kerala where legacy waste is yet to be cleared. The process is in different stages of completion. But there has not been any instance of fire in these sites other than in Kochi's Brahmapuram.

Why? This is the key question. What makes Brahmapuram different? The movement of waste to all other dumping yards effectively stopped by the early 2010s. The old legacy waste mounts continued but there was no addition of fresh organic waste, which can generate methane and spark a fire. In contrast, the waste movement, that too non-segregated, to Brahmapuram, continued. The popular resistance was also weak because of the vast 115 acre-yard and its relative isolation.

Kochi never took to decentralised waste management mainly because of the high expectations of the waste-to-energy plant that was being planned for nearly a decade. Some of the senior bureaucrats in fact discouraged decentralised waste management, fearing that such a system, if successful, would undermine sufficient supply of waste to the plant.

In fact, a permissive order was issued to bring waste from neighbouring municipalities and panchayats in the district for dumping in Brahmapuram. There was a large windrow plant of the old model whose capacity was soon overrun by the non-segregated waste from not only the city but also from the rest of the district.

The Brahmapuram fire was a debacle that was waiting to happen. Now it is revealed that the fire was an annual happening. But nobody seems to have been worried as long as the fire was within manageable limits. But this time it went out of control with disastrous consequences.

The Brahmapuram waste yard imbroglio happened because for whatever reason, Kochi did not follow the tested and proven methods that were being used in other towns in Kerala. The fire has been the NIMB (Not in My Backyard) moment for Kochi. There is no option other than to adopt a decentralised waste management system, at least for the present. If there is any skeptic doubting the relevance of the best practices of small towns to a metropolis, my suggestion is to take a visit to Kozhikode in North Kerala.

REVISITING RAIDS, CORRUPTION AND AN ELEPHANT IN THE SYSTEM

SANDIP GHOSE

Current affairs commentator

My previous column, India can't push corruption dirt under carpet any longer (March 10), elicited responses on expected lines. A few regular readers of this column wrote to me saying that I had only peripherally touched on the corruption of politicians belonging to the ruling dispensation. They also commented on what they perceived as "selective targeting" of opposition leaders by the central investigative agencies. One individual went as far as to say, "...this lopsided view makes any campaign against corruption a hugely sick joke".

I pleaded partially guilty to the gentleman. While touching on the issue, I had advisedly not waded deep into that subject which is by itself complex and could take the discussion in a different direction as it often tends to happen, deflecting it from the real questions. However, given the interest the piece has evoked, I owe my readers a more detailed response. Hence, this follow-up piece.

Without being defensive, in my view, the arguments on both sides of the fence are half-baked and half-hearted if not flawed. I shall try to explain why. Firstly, the case for "vendetta" would have been tenable—if indeed the charges were trumped up. As we know, in most cases—be it the fodder scam in Bihar, chit-fund rackets, the teacher recruitment scandal, kickbacks on liquor licences, misappropriation of land allotted for relocation of slum dwellers—corruption did happen and the scale was humongous. If crores of unaccounted cash are recovered from the home of a minister's associate, it cannot be wished away as another day in politics.

Therefore, to ask why only we are being targeted is weak defence for hiding the original sin. The Hindi proverb "Iss hamam mein sab nange hain" cannot be used as an excuse. The "glass house" principle if applied will only perpetuate the malady and cannot be in national interest.

Moreover, in every one of these cases as well as banking frauds—the final tab had to be picked up by the people at the bottom of the pyramid. One can understand protestations by politicians, but if the ordinary citizens buy that argument it would tantamount to condoning and legitimising corruption, which would be even more dangerous vis-à-vis national interest.

Assuming, for the sake of debate, the actions of the government are designed to bring the opposition parties down on their knees, certainly the dictum "what goes around comes around" is not unknown to Narendra Modi. Being a realist, he would know that no one stays in power forever. Therefore, if he is still pressing on with investigations, he must be doing so advisedly and cannot be dismissed by arguments of partisan politics.

Also, let us face it: it is not as if the Congress had not used investigative agencies against its opponents and at times even on its own people when they fell out of line with the party high-command. Now to say that two wrongs do not make a right would be disingenuous indeed.

Corruption in the babudom cannot exist without political patronage. The roots of evil lie in political funding. However, the antidote for that has to be systemic rather than old-style vigilance

A friend living in the United States has written to say, "I think that the Indian common middle class may tolerate corruption in high places because it impacts them only in the long term but they are more pressured and bothered about corruption in daily life in dealing with all bureaucrats at every corner. To me that was my reading of "Na khane dunga" from the PM. From what I hear, he has not been successful…"

He may have a point. Bureaucratic corruption has certainly not disappeared but there are indications that it may have abated due to fear of retribution. Apart from cases reported in the media about officers hauled up for graft, there are many instances of quiet separation even in the higher reaches of bureaucracy for charges of financial irregularities. Though it is a fact, corruption in the babudom cannot exist without political patronage. The roots of evil lie in political funding. However, the antidote for that has to be systemic rather than old-style vigilance. In this the Narendra Modi government has made significant strides by introducing transparency through digitisation, eliminating archaic laws, and simplifying procedures—though there is still a long way to go. The impact of JAM (Jan Dhan–Aadhaar–Mobile), UPI (Unified Payments Interface) and DBT (Direct Benefit Transfer) may not be easily appreciated by Indians living overseas. At home, these have become the new normal.

In the final analysis, the elephant in the room remains our slow justice system. There can be no better example than the "Chara Ghotala" of Bihar. Even after nearly thirty years, the matter is still wallowing in the lower judiciary, and the accused are being postured as martyrs. This calls for, as pointed out in the previous column, radical judicial reforms.

However, that is a tall order in a parliamentary democracy like ours in which whosoever is in the opposition is always ready to stall any government move. In such a situation, the only way for the prime minister to redeem his "Na khaunga, na khane dunga" promise is by setting examples through demonstrable investigation even if those do not lead to conviction and prosecution in the short term.

Therein lies the significance of the PM, who, speaking at a recent conclave, urged the media to highlight the action being taken against corruption without getting caught in a "balancing act". Activists would argue that the process cannot be a punishment and cite western jurisprudence, crying "innocent till proven guilty". But do they have a better alternative in mind: the nation would like to know. If the choice is between doing something or nothing at all, the latter is not an option.

RaGa's conviction

Rahul Gandhi's conviction has come at a time when he has already gone astray on various occasions with his derogatory statements even against the prime minister. This should be an eye-opener for a man who thinks he can say anything in public both within India and abroad and get away with it.

Execution debate

While the SC asked the Centre to provide data that may point to a less painful and socially acceptable method of executing prisoners other than death by hanging, one has to consider the pain faced by victims. Greater the offence, more severe the capital punishment must be to realise the gravity of it.

A P Thiruvadi, Chennai

Punishment solution

Apropos of Execution not about pain, but retribution (Mar 23). Painless execution as punishment for a heinous, premeditated crime cannot be the solution. As said in the editorial, the convicts should realise the depth of pain inflicted on the victims. They must be in the torture chamber lifelong.

Democratic right

I read with great interest what Surya Prakash said in The fallout of Rahul Gandhi's intervention plea (Mar 21). A total disappointment was the result. If he is so concerned about democracy in India why doesn't he recommend to the Lok Sabha Speaker to permit Rahul to speak in the House? He must be given his democratic right to defend himself in order to clear the writer's doubts. He did not speak in London what the writer accuses him of saying.

Ambani's wealth

Apropos of Mukesh Ambani's wealth up 4.5 times in 10 years (Mar 23). What is so exciting when a rich man gets richer and richer? Any increase in the number of Indian billionaires is doing no good to those dirt-poor Indians living in squalid conditions.

Climate change

Apropos of Climate catastrophe is more real, nearer home than we think (Mar 23). The IPCC's predictions are likely to be far more severe than one could imagine. A glaring example was when the heat in the North West decimated crops in Punjab and caused flooding in Pakistan. There is an urgent need to eliminate greenhouse emissions and replace fossil fuels with environment-friendly, renewable sources of energy.

No automatic disqualification: Achary

Constitutional expert says President will take a final call on Rahul Gandhi's MP status

PDT ACHARY
Former secretary-general, Lok Sabha

CONGRESS leader Rahul Gandhi's conviction in a defamation case has triggered a debate on his impending disqualification as Member of Parliament. First of all, we need to understand the wordings of Section 8(3) of The Representation of the People Act, 1951 that deals with disqualification of a member convicted of any offence and sentenced to imprisonment for not less than two years. It says the person "shall be disqualified" and does not say "stands disqualified".

This means that the question of automatic disqualification does not arise. The verdict of the Surat court has led to a confusing situation as the operation of the sentence has been suspended by 30 days. During the 30-day period, Rahul Gandhi can file an appeal in a higher court. Here, the sentence is important as the disqualification is based on it. Suppose, the imprisonment was for a period of less than two years, it would not have led to disqualification. This means the disqualification can be directly related to the quantum of sentence.

Now, the question arises that when the operation of the sentence has been suspended by the court, will it lead to the suspension of the disqualification as well. Logically, if the operation of the sentence has been suspended, the disqualification also should not take effect. There is another view that as soon as the person is sentenced, the disqualification takes effect. This is based on the logic that only the operation of the sentence has been delayed and that the sentence as such remains.

I am of the view that since the disqualification is directly related to the quantum of sentence, which has been suspended, the disqualification resulting from the sentence also remains suspended for that period. I take this view because of Article 103 of the Constitution which gives a totally different insight into the whole scheme of such disqualification. Under Article 103, the President of India has been given the task of declaring the person disqualified. We need to remember that Article 102 of the Constitution mentions about disqualification on many grounds and one of them is any disqualification mentioned in the law made by Parliament (The Representation of the People Act, 1951). This means Article 102 covers all those disqualifications which arise from various sections of the Act including Section 8(3) that is now in question. Therefore, under Article 103, the President has to disqualify the person who has become subject to any of the disqualifications mentioned in Article 102. The President will seek the Election Commission's opinion before taking a decision. If the decision goes against the member, his or her seat in Parliament will be declared vacant.

Meanwhile, the Supreme Court had passed an important judgement in 2013 in the Lilly Thomas case. Earlier, under Section 8(4) of the Representation of the People Act, there was a window of three months available to sitting members before the disqualification came into effect. The Supreme Court held that the provision amounts to discrimination and it is not permissible under Article 14 of the Constitution relating to equality before law, and struck it down.

However, in the Lilly Thomas case, the Supreme Court did not go seriously into Article 103 of the Constitution that implied that there will be no immediate disqualification after conviction and sentence unless the President takes a decision on it. Instead, it dealt mainly with the validity of a particular section in The Representation of the People Act. However, in 2009, a two judge bench of the Supreme Court had ruled that Presidential decision is essential to declare that a member has become subject to disqualification. Article 103 is a constitutional provision and it needs to be remembered that no part of the Constitution is redundant. Every Article, clause, section and subsection of the Constitution has to be given effect to. Therefore, the Presidential decision, which is required under Article 103, is essential before the seat of a member is declared vacant. This means, there is no immediate automatic disqualification even after the Lilly Thomas case verdict.

When the matter comes before the President and is referred to the Election Commission, the process would obviously take time. This does not mean that the member in question goes behind bars in the meantime. Also, there is nothing that bars the member from attending Parliament. As long as the person is not officially disqualified by the President, he or she continues to be a member and like the other members, can attend Parliament. Interestingly, the trial court has given the maximum sentence permissible under Section 500 of the IPC, which is two years. The Section says that a person convicted of defamation shall be punished with simple imprisonment for a term that may extend to two years. Here, the trial court has sentenced him to two years which is also the cut off level for disqualification.

[As told to Sovi Vidyadharan]

Prez's decision essential before seat is declared vacant

Under Article 103, the President has to disqualify the person who has become subject to any of the disqualifications mentioned in Article 102.... Article 103 is a constitutional provision and it needs to be remembered that no part of the Constitution is redundant. Every Article, clause, section and subsection of the Constitution has to be given effect to. Therefore, the Presidential decision, required under Article 103, is essential before the seat of a member is declared vacant. This means, there is no immediate automatic disqualification

Oppn meet at Pawar house raises concern about EVM

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

NCP chief Sharad Pawar along with Kapil Sibal, Ramgopal Yadav & other Opposition leaders address media after a meeting at his residence in Delhi on Thursday | PTI

WITH the general election only 14 months away, several Opposition leaders came together on Thursday to flag their concerns about electronic voting machines (EVM) and urged the Election Commission of India (ECI) to address their doubts over EVMs.

The meeting called by Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) chief Sharad Pawar was attended by leaders of various political parties, including Congress MP Digvijaya Singh, Rajya Sabha MP Kapil Sibal, Samajwadi Party MP Ram Gopal Yadav, SP leader Praful Patel, CPI leader D Raja, BRS leader Keshava Rao, CPI (M) leader Elamaram Kareem. TMC, however, did not attend the meeting. Speaking to this newspaper, CPI general secretary D Raja said, "There are many questions concerning the use of EVMs. It is not only political parties, questions have been raised by civil society organisations, the public, and experts on the credibility of EVMs. In such a situation, we felt that political parties must raise the questions before the EC. Though we have raised a clutch of issues before, the EC hasn't given proper answers. We have to think about future actions and collectively take some steps so that democracy will be saved." In May 2022, the civil society had submitted a letter to the ECI raising doubts regarding the manipulation of EVMs.

In January this year, the ECI's new proposal of Remote Voting Machines (RVM) to allow domestic migrant workers to cast their vote kicked up a debate. Several Opposition parties were up in arms against the proposal, but the poll body maintained that it's a 'work in progress'. With the Opposition parties flagging several concerns regarding the new proposal, the ECI even had to put off the demonstration of the prototype of the machine in an all-party meeting, which was attended by representatives of at least 70 political parties Senior Congress leader Digvijaya Singh said that there are apprehensions in the country over the Remote EVM.

"EC had called an all-party meeting over Remote EVM. Almost unanimously, holding elections through Remote EVM was disagreed by parties. They wanted to give a demonstration, but that too was turned down. There is suspicion in the country over this," Singh said.

The meeting was held after Chief Election Commissioner Rajiv Kumar said that he will respond to doubts raised by political parties and civil society activists over EVM. Singh said though ECI earlier had said that EVM is a standalone machine, later accepted otherwise as the names of candidates and symbols of respective political parties are embedded in it online. "They used to say that it has a one-time programmable chip. But now they accept it has multiple programmable chips," he added.

Rajya Sabha MP Kapil Sibal said that the concerns about the electoral process through EVMs were being raised several times. He pointed out that whenever the machines were found faulty, 'the vote always goes to the BJP'. "It is a fact that no other country in the world uses EVMs for voting. Then why are these machines being used in our country? The foundation of democracy is at stake if the 'one man, one vote' can be manipulated," he said.

U'KHAND GOVT SAYS CHEERS TO PERSONAL BAR PERMIT

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

IN a move that could cheer up liquor lovers, the Uttarakhand government has amended its excise policy to allow residents of the state to open 'authorised personal bars' in their homes — for a fee.

Permit holders will be able to stock up to 60 litres of English liquor (whisky, imported and Indian scotch, beer) equivalent to 80 bottles at their home bars against nine litres (12 bottles) now, excise secretary Harichandra Semwal told this newspaper. An annual fee of ₹12,000 will have to be paid for the licence. Besides, the excise department will collect an amount of ₹50,000 as guarantee at the time of applying for the licence.

Only those who have been regularly filing income tax returns (for at least five years) will be able to apply. Applications will have to be submitted online and approved by the district magistrate.

The licence comes with a set of conditions, though. The licencee can keep only the liquor meant for civilian use. Action will be taken if the liquor is obtained from military canteens or any other state.

The licence terms also stipulate that young men or women below the age of 21 years should not be allowed entry to the personal bar premises.

SOUMYADIP SINHA

There are set limits for separate types of liquor that can be kept at individual bars. According to the terms and conditions, alcohol made in India and Indian Scotch cannot exceed nine litres each. In the case of imported liquor, the limit is double, at 18 litres (two boxes). Only one box of wine can be kept in a licenced home bar, while the maximum allowed quantity of beer is 15.6 litres.

Meanwhile, the excise department has also reduced the licence fee for opening imported liquor shops, in a bid to encourage tourism in the hilly state.

Uttar Pradesh, too, has a similar policy to allow its residents to have licenced home bars. Other states such as Jharkhand give temporary permits to serve liquor on special occasions such as private parties.

Forest cover down in 10 of 13 Himalayan states, shows report

New Delhi: According to India State of Forest Report (ISFR), there is an overall increase in forest cover of the country by 5,516sq.km between ISFR 2017 and ISFR 2021. Some states have shown an increase in forest cover, while others have shown a decline. Meanwhile, in 13 Himalayan states, only three states' forest areas increased in the last ten years between 2011 and 2021. These states are West Bengal (61 sq. km), Himachal Pradesh (764 sq.km) and Jammu Kashmir (5,331sq.km). However, the rest of the 10 states that have seen a reduction in forest areas are Assam, Manipur, Nagaland, Arunachal Pradesh, Meghalaya, Mizoram, Sikkim, Tripura, Uttarakhand and Ladakh. The total cumulative forest area reduction in all 13 states is from 222,534 sq. km to 219,866 sq.km. Ashwini Kumar Choubey, Minister of State in the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change, has tabled the information in the Rajya Sabha.

LS polls: BJP names Bihar, Delhi, Raj & Odisha chiefs

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

AFTER months of consultations, the BJP's central leadership on Thursday appointed new party chiefs in four states — Bihar, poll-bound Rajasthan, Odisha and Delhi.

The appointment of Chandra Prakash Joshi, Chittorgarh MP, for the top party post in Rajasthan has drawn more attention in political circles. It is believed that his appointment is aimed at ending factionalism. Joshi belongs to the Brahmin caste and maintains an impartial image. Arun Singh, the party's national general secretary and in charge of Rajasthan BJP, said that the appointment of Joshi will give momentum to the party's struggle against the alleged misrule of the Gehlot-led Congress government.

In the same way, the BJP also appointed MLC Samrat Choudhury as the new Bihar BJP chief. To consolidate the party in Odisha ahead of the elections, the BJP has appointed Manmohan Samal as the state party president, replacing the incumbent Samir Mohanthy. The BJP also elevated acting Delhi BJP chief Virendra Sachdeva to full capacity as the party chief at a time when the party is taking on the AAP.

TB treatment cost likely to come down as J&J patent plea of key drug rejected

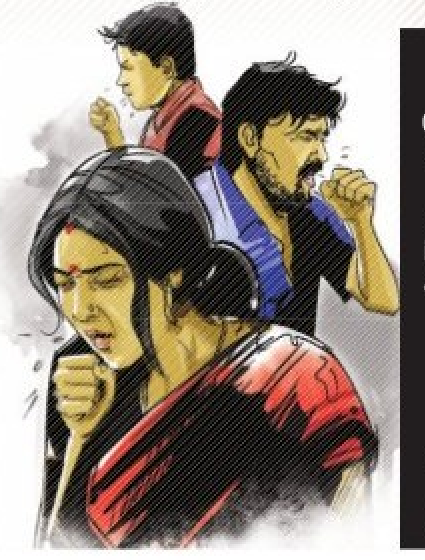
No ever-greening, drug prices set to fall



Indian Patents Office rejects J&J request for for an extension of its patent on anti-TB drug beyond July 2023

The decision will lower the cost as it will break the monopoly of the pharma major

The patent office in its judgment says the Indian law doesn't allow the evergreening of patents

IN a major development, the Indian Patents Office on Thursday rejected global pharma major Johnson and Johnson's (J&J) application seeking an extension to its patent on anti-Tuberculosis (TB) drug Bedaquiline beyond July 2023.

The news, which came on the eve of World TB Day, will help bring down the treatment cost for the disease that affects the lungs. The development will break the monopoly of the pharma major on the key anti-Tuberculosis drug.

This will open doors for Indian manufacturers to manufacture generic medicines at an affordable cost. The life-saving drug is combined with other medicines to treat tuberculosis when the first line of treatment fails. The judgment was given in a plea filed by two TB survivors, Nandita Venkatesan, a two-time TB survivor, and Phumeza Tisile, another TB survivor from South Africa.

The patent office invoked Section 3 (d) in its judgment as the Indian patent law does not allow the evergreening of patents and prevents pharma majors from extending the patent beyond the stipulated monopoly on the drug. Tweeting the announcement, Venkatesan said, "We did it! In a landmark verdict, the Indian Patent Office rejected Johnson and Johnson's patent application to extend the monopoly on key anti-TB drug #Bedaquiline! @ptisile and I – both of us TBsurvivors — had filed pre-grant opposition against the application."

"Bedaquiline is a key anti-TB drug for people with severe TB that has been shown to improve cure rates and have lesser side effects," she tweeted.

Venkatesan, in a statement by Médecins Sans Frontieres/Doctors Without Borders (MSF), said, "My fellow TB survivor Phumeza Tisile from South Africa and I filed a patent challenge against J&J in 2019, because we wanted to ensure that the safer, oral and more efficacious drug Bedaquiline was available to all people who need it and to make sure that no one ever has to endure side effects like we did, such as permanent hearing loss."

A total of 21.4 lakh tuberculosis (TB) cases were notified in India in 2021 — 18 per cent higher than in 2020 — with over 22 crore people screened nationwide for early detection and treatment, according to the WHO'S Global TB report. With 28 per cent of cases, India was among the eight countries accounting for more than two-thirds (or 68.3 per cent) of the total TB patients' count.

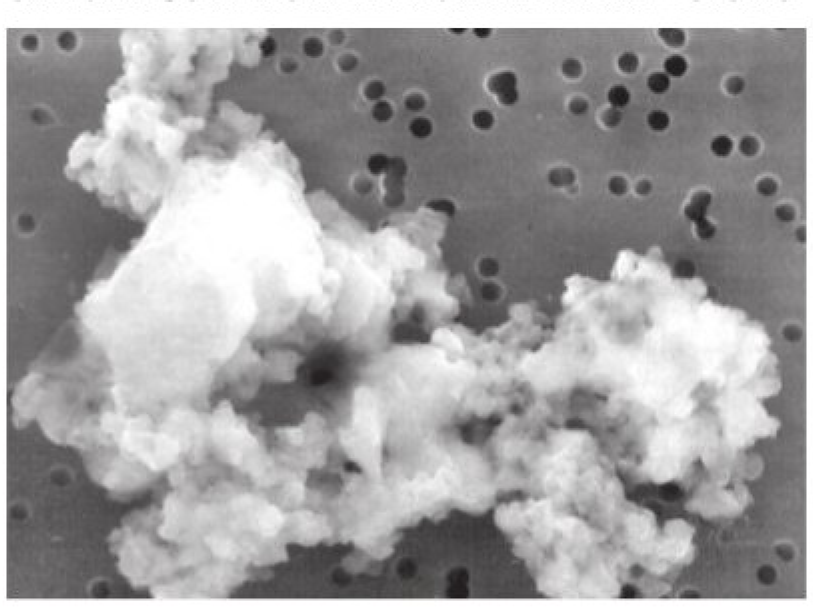
NEW WAY TO GET RID OF CHEMICALS FROM WATER

University of British Columbia (UBC) researchers have found a new treatment method to remove a wide range of chemicals from drinking water that pose severe health problems including hormonal disruption, cardiovascular disease, developmental delays and cancer. These chemicals are called 'per-and polyfluoroalkyl substances' (PFAS)- a large group of 4,700 substances that is mainly used in non-stick cookware, stain repellents and others. Their adsorbing method is capable of capturing up to 99 per cent of PFAS particles, which can be regenerated and potentially reused for the purposes they are meant for.

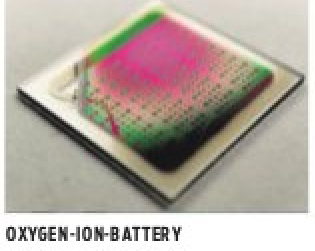
SPACE DUST BEST BET TO FIND ET LIFE SIGNS



This piece of interplanetary dust is thought to be part of the early solar system and was found in our atmosphere, demonstrating lightweight particles could survive atmospheric entry as they do not generate much heat from friction | NASA

The University of Tokyo is exploring a new way to look for alien life from the far reaches of the Universe. The researchers have proposed to peep into microscopic space dust that is constantly bombarding Earth, and which is likely to carry fossils of microorganisms from planets in faraway stellar systems which may have been hosting extra-terrestrial life. The researchers say that even with our present technological tools, human beings will be able to detect certain signatures of biological life outside or even within the Solar System. The idea stems from the high probability that planets in other stellar systems too are bombarded by asteroids just like planets in our Systemare. The ejected mass is likely to travel through in the form of fragments in the form of space dust, which over time have come into the Earth's atmosphere.

OXYGEN-ION BATTERIES FOR LARGE ENERGY STORAGE SYSTEMS



OXYGEN-ION-BATTERY

The Vienna University of Technology (TU Wien) has developed a new oxygen-ion battery which is not only more durable, but also doesn't pose fire hazards as it does not require rare elements. Although it does not allow for high energy densities as the lithium-ion battery, its storage capacity does fall over time. It can be regenerated using oxygen from ambient air, enabling its durability. The oxygen-ion battery can be an excellent solution for large energy storage systems, especially to store electrical energy from renewable sources. The TU Wien researchers used ceramic material which can absorb and release doubly negatively charged oxygen ions. When an electric voltage is applied, the oxygen ions migrate from one ceramic material to another, after which they can be made to migrate back again, thus generating electric current. However, the new battery concept is not intended for smartphones or electric cars, as it only achieves about a third of the energy density compared to lithium ones. The researchers said its long service life, lack of fire hazard and its regeneration capability prove a huge benefit for energy storage systems in the future.

Uddhav, Fadnavis meet in House triggers buzz

SUDHIR SURAYWANSHI @ Mumbai

> We exchanged 'hi,' Nothing more or less. Is that a crime? The joining of hands never happens in public
>
> Uddhav Thackeray

A brief meeting between Maharashtra Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis and Uddhav Thackeray at Vidhan Bhavan set off speculation about the nature of talks between the erstwhile allies.

The two arrived almost simultaneously to attend the ongoing Budget session of the state assembly on Thursday. Their brief interaction was apparently limited to exchanging pleasantries, but their coming together to the Vidhan Bhavan made all tongues wag about whether they are ready to bury their differences and work together again.

BJP minister Sudhir Mungantiwar felt that "they should support the plant and help it to grow." However, Uddhav has refuted such plan, saying it was a chance meeting beginning and ending with a "hello."

"We emailed and exchanged 'hi,' nothing more or less. The joining of hands never happens in public. If there were an indoor meeting, I would definitely share the details," said Uddhav.

Uddhav Thackeray of the erstwhile Shiv Sena and BJP broke their 30-year-old alliance over the power-sharing formula after the assembly election results in 2019. They parted ways and Uddhav with the help of Congress and NCP formed the government after stitching together the Maha Vikas Aghadi alliance in which Uddhav became the chief minister.

Uddhav's MVA was toppled by Eknath Shinde who was once a close confidant and second-important leader in Shiv Sena. In the coup against Uddhav, BJP's Amit Shah reportedly played a key role. Fadnavis had earlier said that he had nothing personal against Uddhav.

Partha drops bombshell, names BJP, CPM leaders

Alleges their involvement in multi-crore Bengal teachers' job scam

PRONAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

FORMER West Bengal education minister Partha Chatterjee, who was arrested last year in connection with alleged hiring irregularities in schools, on Thursday dropped the names of Suvendu Adhikari, leader of Opposition, Dilip Ghosh, former BJP state president, and Sujan Chakrabarty, CPM's central committee member, linking them to teacher recruitment scam.

Chatterjee, while being produced in a Kolkata court, alleged that the three leaders had recommended several names for jobs in schools but he did not entertain them.

Partha's allegation came minutes after Trinamool Congress spokesperson Kunal Ghosh tweeted saying whether these three leaders will be brought under the scanner of the investigating agencies.

"Dilip Ghosh, Suvendu Adhikari and Sujan Chakrabarty are talking big. Look at them. In north Bengal what did they do? Read the CAG's report in 2009-2010. Ask Suvendu what he did in 2011-12. Am being the education minister, I received a lot of recommendations from them, but I declined to help because I was not authorised to recruit anyone. There were recruitment boards to look after recruitment in schools. I couldn't even offer assistance because that would have been unlawful,'' said Chatterjee.

Asked whether there was any connection between Chatterjee's allegation and his tweet, Kunal Ghosh said: "I have been saying these on many occasions previously. Even last night, I raised the same issue. How should I know what Chatterjee will allege in court?''

During the hearing, Chatterjee pleaded before the magistrate. "I was not the recruiting authority. Recruitment would have been overseen by three recruitment boards and I was not in any. Where will I flee? Only political leaders are influential?" asked Chatterjee.

Chatterjee was remanded to judicial custody till March 30. Reacting to his allegation, BJP's Ghosh said Chatterjee has lost his mental balance as he is behind the bars. "I was not in politics during the period he mentioned. I met him first time in the Assembly in 2016. If he can prove his allegation against me, I will go to jail," he said.

'Recruitment of over 3,500 teachers unlawful'

Chatterjee and many top-level functionaries of education department, including a vice-chancellor of north Bengal University, were arrested in the past one year in connection with the recruitment scam. The Kolkata High Court ordered recruitment of more than 3,500 teachers and non-teaching staffs unlawful and asked the education department to terminate them immediately.

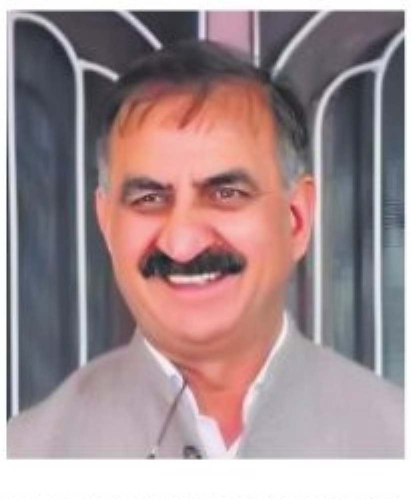
Sukhu talks tough, says govt will confiscate assets of drug peddlers

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh



TO tackle the increasing drug menace in the state, the Himachal Pradesh Government has decided to form a Special Task Force (STF) to break the supply chain of drug mafia. The government will also take stringent action, including confiscating the property of drug peddlers.

Addressing a meeting of senior officers of police, home and law departments here last evening, Himachal Pradesh Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu said in order to take stringent action against the drug peddlers necessary amendments to the law would be carried out with a provision to confiscate the property of the culprits.

He said an advisory board under the Prevention of Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances (NDPS) Act would also be constituted to check the menace, besides setting up of a STF.

Sukhu said a modern de-addiction centre and rehabilitation centre would be set up which will be equipped with latest facilities and skilled supportive staff to bring the addicts back into the mainstream.

"We will seek the support of Union Government to evolve a mechanism to share intelligence inputs and taking joint actions to control the problem in an effective manner by making necessary amendments in the central legislation on drug menace, '' he said.

Sources said that there are 2,307 drug peddlers in the state. Of these, 1,836 are from Himachal, 422 are from other states and 49 are foreign nationals. Himachal Pradesh is the only state in the country to maintain such a record.

Sources further said that the state is faced with this problem of trafficking at three points Baddi-Solan-Shimla and Damtal-Nurpur for heroin besides Parvati valley for cannabis. Meanwhile, other narcotics are coming from Punjab.

5.5 lakh jobs for youths in 6 yrs, says Yogi

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

USUALLY under attack by the Opposition over unemployment, UP Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath claimed that his government had provided government jobs to over 5.5 lakh youth and generated employment opportunities for over 1.61 crore with fairness and transparency in the last six years.

While handing over appointment letters, on Thursday, to around 500 newly appointed officers inducted into various government departments, the CM expressed satisfaction that 43 of the total new appointees had got selected through Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission after receiving coaching at Mukhyamantri Abhyudaya Coaching Scheme.

Stating that during the last six years, the state government was successful in providing employment to over 1.61 crore youth, Yogi said: "More than 60 lakh young entrepreneurs have been supported to set up their startups, and businesses."

He said that the government expected the selected candidates to keep in mind that people's welfare had to be their priority. The CM also inaugurated the 'e-adhiyachan portal'.

In a 1st, CRPF to hold Raising Day ceremony in Maoist-hit Bastar

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

IN a first, the Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF) will hold its 84th annual Raising Day ceremony on Saturday in Maoist-hit Bastar. Union Home Minister Amit Shah will be attending the event as chief guest. The function will be organised at the Karanpur base camp, the headquarters of 204 CoBRA battalion of the CRPF, some 18 km from Jagdalpur.

Shah is expected to reach Jagdalpur on Friday evening by a special BSF plane and is likely to chair a high-level meeting with the top officials, interact with the security forces at the camp and also review the ceremonial parade, though the official protocol of his trip is yet to be issued by officials.

According to reliable sources, around 1,000 personnel of CRPF's contingent from across the country will participate in the function.

Officials told this newspaper that coinciding with Shah's visit, 75 CRPF women personnel, referred to as 'Daredevils', who embarked on a women empowerment mission on bikes, will arrive at Karanpur after a 17-day journey covering over 1800 km through five states (see pic).

"The bike expedition is intended to show that nothing is impossible for women, even ones from rural areas. A majority of us have got our two-wheeler license only recently. We had undergone one month of training ahead of this itinerary and our journey mostly covered the rural areas," said assistant commandant Seema Nag, bike rally's team leader.

Shah during his visit to Chhattisgarh on January 7 this year had said that his government will ensure that the Maoist menace in the country gets wiped out by 2024. The outlawed left wing extremists had recently held a rally with the villagers in strife-torn Sukma to protest against his trip.

Assembly polls are scheduled later this year and will witness a keen bipolar contest between the Congress and BJP.

Months after their arrival, Elton & Freddie out in the Kuno wild

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

The cheetahs sourced by India from Namibia | EXPRESS

TWO male Cheetahs who were part of the eight cheetahs flown from Namibia to Madhya Pradesh's Kuno National Park (KNP) on PM Narendra Modi's 72nd birthday in September 2022 were released into the open jungle of the same national park in Sheopur district on Wednesday.

The Cheetah coalition, wearing satellite collars, have joined two other Namibian Cheetahs, including a male, Oban, and a female named Asha, who were the first ones to be released into the wild on March 11.

Confirming the development, Kuno Divisional Forest Officer (DFO) Prakash Verma told this newspaper on Thursday, "The male coalition, Elton and Freddie, were released from the big enclosures into the open jungles successfully on Wednesday. They are being continuously monitored and are safe."

"On March 11, the first ones to be released out of the big enclosures into the open jungle were Asha and Oban. They too are adapting well to the wild and returning to their fencing after freely moving in 5-7 kms daily. They are under our continuous watch," he added.

Based on how well these four Namibian Cheetahs continue to adapt in the open jungle (which also has leopards as co-predators), the remaining four Cheetahs from the southwest African nation too will be released into KNP's open jungles, following clearance from the Central government's special task force on the Cheetah Project, sources at KNP said.

All the four Cheetahs now in the open jungle are aged between 4 and 5 years.

Not only have four of the eight Namibian Cheetahs now been released into the open jungle at KNP, but the park located in Sheopur district of MP's Gwalior-Chambal region, has also opened two of its gates (but not the main gate) for visitors, including Pohri-Ahira Gate and Agara-Pipalwadi Gate.

The remaining four Cheetahs from Namibia, awaiting their release from the big enclosures, include a female named Sasha, which reportedly has fully recovered from a kidney-liver infection.

India's seven decades long wait to see the return of the Cheetah – the fastest moving animal on earth – into the wild, had finally ended with the PM Narendra Modi releasing the first batch from Namibia, at Kuno National Park in Madhya Pradesh's Sheopur district on his 72nd Birthday on September 17, 2022.

The eight fully-vaccinated Namibian Cheetahs, included five females and three males. The eight Cheetahs, after their arrival at KNP in September 2022, had spent around two months in quarantine, before being released into enclosures to master the art of hunting.

Five months after the arrival of first batch of Cheetahs from Namibia, the first-batch of 12 satellite collared Cheetahs from South Africa, including seven males and five females were released into the quarantine bomas by MP CM Shivraj Singh Chouhan on February 18, 2023, consequently making KNP the home to 20 African Cheetahs.

All the 12 South African Cheetahs are presently in mandatory quarantine in small enclosures on buffalo meat diet.

The successful introduction of the 20 African Cheetahs at KNP under the world's first inter-continental Cheetah translocation project, followed by the reintroduction of three tigers at the Madhav National Park in adjoining Shivpuri district of MP on March 10, 2023, has also raised the hope of development of a first-of-its-kind Tiger-Cheetah-Tiger corridor. If developed, the corridor will span from Ranthambore National Park inRajasthan's Sawai Madhopur district to MP's Madhav National Park .

FM to meet PSB heads on March 25

Sitharaman will also review the performance of various government schemes

MONIKA YADAV @New Delhi

AFTER the collapse of Silicon Valley Bank (SVB) in the US, and Credit Suisse in Europe, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman is likely to take stock of the health of public sector banks in India. Sources told TNIE that the finance minister will meet the heads of government-owned banks on Saturday.

Though the Finance Ministry and the Reserve Bank of India have already stated that the Indian banking system is insulated from the global financial crisis as they are adequately capitalised, the meeting is critical in the aftermath of SVB and Credit Suisse episodes.

Besides the discussion on global financial crisis, Sitharaman will also review the performance of the government schemes like Kisan Credit Card (KCC), Stand-Up India, Pradhan Mantri Mudra Yojana (PMMY), and emergency credit line guarantee scheme (ECLGS) aimed at providing help to the small businesses impacted by Covid 19 pandemic. She will also assess credit growth, capital adequacy, asset quality and the expansion plans of banks. Recently, Moody's in its report had said that the Indian banks' strong funding and liquidity will allow them to hold onto their held-to-maturity (HTM) securities. The rating agency had said that the Indian banks have faced strenuous solvency challenges in the past decade, but their funding and liquidity have held up strongly and have been a key factor supporting their overall credit strength. Moody's report had also highlighted that Indian banks' average liquidity coverage ratio (LCR) was at a healthy 133% at the end of March 2022, which it feels is understated because it does not include the bulk of their cash reserves at the central bank, as well as parts of their holdings of government securities. In addition, the RBI in its recent report said that the collapse of two banks in the US is rippling through the global financial markets. While the direct impact of this meltdown on economic activity could be limited as it would appear at present, markets are bracing for tighter financial conditions, which could present a trade-off between financial stability concerns and the conduct of disinflationary monetary policy.

LS passes ₹45 L cr Budget 2023-24 without debates

Lok Sabha on Thursday approved the ₹45 lakh crore Union Budget for FY24 without any discussion amid Opposition ruckus over demand for a JPC probe into allegations against the Adani Group. Lok Sabha, the Lower House of Parliament, took up the Demands for Grants and Appropriation Bills after two adjournments when the house reassembled at 6 pm. The finance minister moved the demands for grants for 2023-24 and relevant Appropriation Bills for discussion and voting. The demands were passed amid constant slogans from the Opposition MPs. The Finance Bill 2023, which contains tax proposals that Sitharaman had moved while presenting the Budget on February 1, will now be taken up by the Lok Sabha possibly on Friday.

Accenture to cut 19k jobs; lowers revenue forecast

UMA KANNAN @Bengaluru

TECH company Accenture is the latest firm to announce the layoff, as it confirmed on Thursday that it would fire 19,000 employees or 2.5% of its current workforce over the next 18 months.

In an SEC filing, the tech consultancy giant said, "While we continue to hire, especially to support our strategic growth priorities, during the second quarter of fiscal 2023, we initiated actions to streamline our operations and transform our non-billable corporate functions to reduce costs."

"Over the next 18 months, these actions are expected to result in the departure of approximately 19,000 people (or 2.5% of our current workforce), and we expect over half of these departures will consist of people in our non-billable corporate functions," it added.

The company's workforce, the majority of which serves clients, increased to approximately 7,38,000 as of February 28, 2023, compared to 6,99,000, a year ago. It employs 3 lakh people in India.

Accenture reported $15.8 billion in revenue, an increase of 5% in US dollars, in the second quarter of fiscal 2023. The company follows the September-August financial year. It also lowered its annual revenue projections. For fiscal 2023, the company now expects revenue growth to be in the range of 8% to 10% in local currency, compared to 8% to 11% previously.

For fiscal 2023, the company expects operating cash flow to be in the range of $8.7 billion to $9.2 billion compared to $8.5 billion to $9.0 billion previously.

Accenture also said that its new bookings for the quarter were a record $22.1 billion, with consulting bookings of $10.7 billion and managed services bookings of $11.4 billion.

Julie Sweet, chair and CEO, Accenture, said, "We are also taking steps to lower our costs in fiscal year 2024 and beyond while continuing to invest in our business and our people to capture the significant growth opportunities ahead." During the quarter, Accenture initiated actions to streamline operations, transform non-billable corporate functions and consolidate office space to reduce costs. It recorded $244 million in business optimisation costs during the second quarter.

Anil Agarwal denies selling stake in Vedanta to reduce debt

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@New Delhi

RUBBISHING the reports that Vedanta Limited is considering sale of 5% stake to reduce its debt load, chairman of Vedanta group Anil Agarwal said that the talks of any stake sale in the mining major are untrue and baseless.

In February this year, Vedanta Ltd in an exchange filing said that Vedanta Resources had slashed its net debt by $2 billion in the current financial year.

After the $2 billion repayment, the company still has $7.7 billion debt in its books, which it plans to bring down further over the next two years.

As per an S&P report, Vedanta Resources' liquidity will depend on a $2 billion fundraising exercise and the proposed sale of international zinc assets to Hindustan Zinc.

The rating agency further said if neither of these transactions progresses over the coming weeks, the company is likely to come under immediate pressure.

The mining giant has been aggressively trying to raise funds from the market. According to the reports, Vedanta Resources has been in talks with at least three banks for a loan of as much as $1 billion, but no final decisions have been made yet.

In January 2023, the company decided to sell its zinc business to its subsidiary Hindustan Zinc for $2.98 billion.

However, the government, which owns about 30% of Hindustan Zinc, opposed this move. Therefore, it is believed that a stake sale in Vedanta is the only option left for the company. Currently, Vedanta Limited has a market value of about $12.2 billion, and 5% stake sale will fetch it around $610 million.

Sensex falls 289 points on weak global cues

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

AFTER witnessing two straight sessions of gains, Indian equity benchmark fell on Thursday, dragged by information technology stocks and financials, after the US Federal Reserve reiterated its fight against inflation with a quarter-point rate hike on Wednesday.

Also, investors turned cautious after US Treasury Secretary Janet Yellen ruled out 'blanket insurance' for all domestic banking deposits, which could further dent IT firms as they earn a significant share of their revenue from the United States and Europe.

The 30-share BSE Sensex fell 289.31 points or 0.50% to settle at 57,925.28. During the day, it declined 375.74 points or 0.64% to 57,838.85. The broader NSE Nifty dipped 75 points or 0.44% to end at 17,076.90.

"Although the Fed's decision to increase rates by 25 basis points was in line with expectations, concerns were raised by the US Treasury Secretary's statement that blanket insurance for all deposits was not being considered," said Vinod Nair, Head of Research at Geojit Financial Services.

"The domestic market attempted to recoup its initial losses with the help of favourable US futures as the Fed hinted at its plan to pause rate hikes sooner. However, the recovery was short-lived due to a sluggish start in the European market led by a 50bps hike by the Swiss National Bank," he added. State Bank of India was the biggest loser in the Sensex pack, shedding 1.69%, followed by Asian Paints, Kotak Mahindra Bank, HCL Technologies, Reliance Industries, Wipro, IndusInd Bank, Infosys, Power Grid and HDFC twins. Besides, heavy selling pressure in index heavyweight Reliance Industries added to the pressure, traders said.

"Nifty remained volatile throughout the session before closing below the previous session's low. The trend remains weak as the index failed to move above the near-term moving average. The momentum indicator is in the bearish crossover. However, 16,950 may remain a crucial support; a fall below 16,950 may trigger a significant correction," said Rupak De, Senior Technical Analyst at LKP Securities.

RUPEE SURGES 39 PAISE AS DOLLAR WEAKENS

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Mumbai

INDIAN rupee surged 39 paise, its biggest gain in three weeks, helped by weakness in US dollar and tracking gains in Asian currencies which rose on anticipation that the US Federal Reserve was near the end of its rate hiking cycle. Rupee ended the day at 82.26 per dollar, compared with its previous close of 82.66 per dollar.

"US Dollar- Rupee spot closed 39 paise lower at 82.26, thanks to the dovish outlook from the US central bank. With the market now pricing a peak in US rates, US Dollar Index has dropped to the lowest levels since early Feb. Over the near term we expect US Dollar-Rupee to trade within a range of 81.80 and 82.50 on the spot," said Anindya Banerjee, VP - Currency Derivatives & Interest Rate Derivatives at Kotak Securities.

In intra-day trade, the rupee touched a high of 82.08 and hit the lowest level of 82.41 against the greenback. The dollar index, which gauges the greenback's strength against a basket of six currencies, was trading 0.03% lower at 102.31. The US Federal Reserve on Wednesday hiked rates by 25 basis points and mellowed its hawkish stance by hinting it was on the verge of pausing after the recent collapse of two US banks.

"Rupee traded positive below 82.25 up by 0.45% on back of strength from dollar index trading below 102 and crude trading near 70 in WTI (West Texas Intermediate) which gave strength to rupee," said Jateen Trivedi, VP Research Analyst at LKP Securities. "As the Fed's anticipation of hikes can be data specific and inflation has been coming lower, the dollar index is looking weak," he added.

Withdrawal of DNE facility to hit F&O volumes

SACHIN KUMAR @ Mumbai

STOCK market's Future & Option (F&O) traders will have to tread with caution from the next financial year as the National Stock Exchange (NSE) has decided to withdraw the 'Do Not Exercise' (DNE) facility for them from March 30.

Experts say that the discontinuation will have a negative impact on options trade volume as traders won't have an auto square-off facility after the end of monthly options in a stock options trade.

"The DNE facility gave the trader the freedom not to exercise the option to give/receive delivery which encouraged trading. With the withdrawal of the DNE facility, the auto-square-off facility will not be available. This can lead to huge losses on the expiry day. This will impact volumes in the F&O segment," V K Vijayakumar, Chief Investment Strategist at Geojit Financial Services said.

Under the DNE facility, the traders in stock options can give instructions to their brokers not to exercise the option and instead automatically square off their out-of-money positions. In a circular dated 20 January, the exchange had informed that the facility would be withdrawn effective from March 2023 expiry of F&O contracts. As stock markets will be closed on 30 March on the occasion of Ram Navami, 29 March will be the last official date for the DNE facility.

After the withdrawal of this facility, traders will have to physically settle their 'In The Money (ITM)' options at expiry which means that if traders do not have the required numbers of shares to honour the contract, they would go to the auction market for purchasing it. At the auction, they might have to buy the required number of shares at higher prices leading to huge losses beyond their premium money. Currently, derivative positions are physically settled on the expiry day.

The NSE had reintroduced the DNE facility in stock options from April 28, 2022, after discontinuing this facility in October 2021. First introduced in 2017, the DNE facility was originally conceived as a foolproof system for options traders during the time of cash settlement of options contracts.

Maruti Suzuki announces price hike from April

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

THE country's largest automaker and leader in the affordable market, Maruti Suzuki on Thursday announced that it will increase prices across all models starting from April owing to inflation and regulatory requirements.

According to a regulatory filing by the company, it continues to witness increased cost pressure. "While the company makes the maximum effort to reduce cost and partially offset the increase, it has become imperative to pass on some of the impacts through a price increase," it said.

However, the auto major didn't mention the quantum of the price hike.

Earlier Maruti Suzuki increased car prices in January 2023 by 1.1% and hiked the rates of select models and CNG variants in April 2022. Between January 2021 and March 2022, the company vehicle prices surged around 8.8% due to an increase in input prices.

Maruti Suzuki's share rose 1.5% following the announcement on Thursday. Several automakers, including Honda Cars India have increased the price from April 2023 due to regulatory requirements and hardened raw material prices.

India's Neetu (L) punches Kazakhstan's Alua Balkibekova on Thursday | PARVEEN NEGI

'Aggression' behind Nitu's successful run

ANMOL GURUNG @New Delhi

UNTIL not so long ago, things seemed to be conspiring against Nitu Ghanghas. Coming from humble beginnings, the Haryana boxer had also faced many hurdles outside the ring after she took up the sport. She had even contemplated quitting the sport before it could take off. But like most success stories, with the support of her family, she persevered.

Coming from the famed Bhiwani Boxing Club (BBC), her talent was unquestionable. She had ticked all the right boxes at the youth level - she's a two-time world youth champion (2017, 2018). But her transition phase from youth to senior category was far from easy, especially due to injuries (shoulder/wrist). She was out of the picture for a little over a year. She had to be patient. Now, over the last year or so, her perseverance is finally paying off. In the ongoing IBA Women's World Championships in front of her family and well-wishers in New Delhi, the 2022 Commonwealth Games winner has been one of the standouts. On Thursday, the 48kg pugilist went one step closer to history books by fighting her way into the final. The southpaw, hailing from a tiny village in Dhanana, was facing a familiar rival in Alua Balkibekova. Balkibekova, who is from Kazakhstan, had stopped her in this very event last year.

And after the completion of Round 1, it seemed like Nitu could suffer a similar fate. But the narrative changed soon. Sensing that she was behind, Nitu was not afraid to be the aggressor. With the crowd egging her on, she surprised Balkibekova with some stinging punches, hits that were enough to get the votes of the four judges by the ringside. She duly did what was needed of her in the final round to script a memorable victory, a win that could prove to be a game-changer.

"I had lost in the split decision and I just wanted to win and I managed to do the same," Nitu, who won the contest by 5-2 verdict, said. "I had tried to keep some distance and that was my mistake. This time I had planned to play from close range because she prefers to operate from distance."

Bhaskar's influence

She has certainly made a big turnaround. One person who has a massive influence in her boxing is national chief coach Bhaskar Bhatt. The two have known each other for a long time. That naturally means they are familiar with each other. Bhaskar was there along with Nitu when she caught eyeballs for the first time during the Youth World Championships in 2017.

Nitu was quick to thank the support staff and said that the coach has tweaked her game a little bit, a change that is proving beneficial for her. "He (Bhaskar Bhatt) knows me very well. He has helped me bring that aggression in my game. I used to play counter and now I have added a little bit of aggression in my game as well," Nitu said, when asked about what she has been doing differently in the last 12 months or so. That recently-acquired side of her game had helped her end bouts quickly in the earlier rounds - she had recorded three wins by Referee Stops the Contest. In the 2022 CWG, that aggression had helped her corner glory.

Before Bhaskar came into the picture, it was father Jai Bhagwan who had sacrificed a lot. It's a well-documented fact that it was her father who introduced her to the sport. Bhagwan, an employee in the secretariat in Chandigarh, had taken unpaid leave for three years to ensure that her training was not neglected. It is well-known that he had taken loans to provide her needs. It was her father who enrolled her into BBC, where she worked under renowned coach Jagdish Singh. Singh was also present here to witness her crunch bodies at will. Bhagwan is more than pleased after his daughter's latest exploits. He felt her marked improvement is down to hard work behind the scenes. "Bhaskar sir knows him really well, that has proven to be beneficial. She has also had proper training in the national camp," he said. Come final, Bhagwan would be hoping that the long-standing partnership will go on to claim gold once again after 2017, albeit at the senior level.

Nikhat & Lovlina rise to occasion

NEW DELHI: NIKHAT Zareen, who shifted to the 50kg category with the Paris Olympics in mind, had to start from bottom in the ongoing world meet. Up against a proven winner in the category semifinals on Thursday, it was supposed to be one of her biggest tests. Facing Ingrit Valencia, Nikhat was class. She was the aggressor and controlled the tempo of the bout. She was always a step ahead and beat the Colombian rival 5-0. Lovlina Borgohain, the other Indian who's playing in a new weight category (75kg) for the first time, rocked Li Qian in the final round to win the bout by a split verdict. Saweety Boora (81kg) entered the final with 4-3 win over Australia's Sue-Emma Greentree.

Sharma key for the new template

While the India skipper's number of balls per innings has gone down this year, his aggressive approach at the top sets the tone

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

WITH less than seven months to go for the 50-over World Cup, one thing is clear. The Indian team is trying to move away from the template that gave the side a lot of success in bilateral cricket under the old regime. Muscle memory does mean that, on occasions, batters have looked to rebuild rather than stay true to the new guidelines (the decider against Australia at Chennai was a case in point). More aerial shots are being played. More batters are losing their wickets to catches in the deep. More risks are being taken in the powerplay.

It directly explains why a batter like Suryakumar Yadav — somebody currently with no floor but potentially a massive ceiling in this form of the sport — is being persisted with under this regime despite accumulating only 270 across 17 innings since the time coach Rahul Dravid and captain Rohit Sharma joined hands for the first time (West Indies at Ahmedabad last February) in ODIs.

Nowhere else is this change more prominent than in Sharma himself. Since the beginning of last year, the opener is facing almost 10 fewer balls per innings (down from 44 to 35). Normally, that's not a good sign. But his strike rate is up by 20 (110 from 90). So, the role he has given for himself is quite clear. Take advantage of the field restrictions and look to set the tempo early. One may wonder if it's the best use of a batter who has three doubles in this format but one cannot deny the fact that among all resources available to this side right now, the 35-year-old is the batter best equipped to play this way.

A natural stroke-maker, he was never shy of trying to use the space above the fielder in the powerplay under the previous regime. Hence, it's not a surprise to note that the kind of dismissals he has had in the last few ODIs. At Chennai, a pull shot found deep square leg. In Visakhapatnam, an attempted expansive drive found slip via an outside edge. At Indore against New Zealand, an across the line swipe rearranged the stumps (only century in the time period). In Hyderabad against the same opponents, he tried to go over the bowler's head. You get the drift, right? The end result is he may stop getting those daddy 100s but there could be enough value in the next best opportunity (known as opportunity cost in economics). India being 80/1 after 10 overs as opposed to 60 for no loss.

This change in Sharma's approach allows India a few things, even in a World Cup year. It gives the batting unit, right from Virat Kohli, the luxury of getting to do what they do best, especially when they are new to the crease. Not dotting up too many balls but also preferring to take singles and converting ones into twos before exploding at the back end. Such a strategy is fraught with danger — Kohli and KL Rahul showed why when they were dismissed looking to take the game deep on Wednesday but Sharma's change at the top buys the others some time.

"He's someone who has got that game right," Dravid had said when explaining about Sharma's batting during an ODI series against New Zealand this January. "An all-round game and you can't really think of a kind of bowling you can bowl to him. If you bowl fast and short, he will take you down and he will take down spinners. He plays swing well. So, he's got a really good, complete game. So, yeah he has been a fantastic player for India and he has been batting well for us even in the last few games;... it's great to have him play the way he is."

In a World Cup year, their captain may have to continue playing these kind of innings so as to allow the others to breathe.

Workload - An old query gets another airing

GOMESH S @Chennai

LESS than two weeks ago, after having sealed the Border-Gavaskar Trophy 2-1, India skipper Rohit Sharma indicated that there could be some overseeing of workload of players in the lead up to the World Test Championship final. After all, every top, fit and available Indian player is going to be a part of a gruelling two-month long Indian Premier League which will end ten days before the WTC final.

"It's quite critical for us. We are going to keep in constant touch with all the players who are going to play that final and monitor their workload and see what's happening with them," Sharma had said at that time, even indicating that the players who are from teams that don't qualify for play-offs could be sent to England early.

The question about keeping an eye on the players' workload runs a lot deeper than just keeping them fresh. For far too long now, Indian cricket has been riddled with injuries, often recurring ones, that has kept the players who are a part of the regular XI out of action. Jasprit Bumrah hasn't played since September (He came close to playing twice before being ruled out). Ravindra Jadeja missed the T20 World Cup. Shreyas Iyer was out of the ODIs due to a recurring back injury and will miss the first half of IPL. Prasidh Krishna has been ruled out of the T20 tournament with a stress fracture. The list goes on. So, it becomes all the more important in the context of the 50-over format as there is a home World Cup to play for.

Which is why, after India lost the ODI series against Australia 1-2 in Chennai on Wednesday, the same question was posed to Sharma. While admitting the injury concerns of players who are the regulars in the XI, he was empathetic in saying that the backroom staff and players are doing everything in their power to keep the 15 they want fit and ready for the WC. "Players are frustrated as well. You know, they want to play, they don't want to miss out," he said. "I can see and I can vouch for it that the people working behind the scene are working really hard with all these players and freakish injuries can happen at any point in time, like Shreyas was the best example. He was sitting the whole day and he just went to take a knock. And you know, the injury happened to him and there's nothing you could do about it. I mean, the only thing we can keep in mind is managing players and giving them enough breaks and I think from our side we're doing that."

That said, Iyer, who was coming back from injury, fielding in close-in catching positions for sustained periods in the Test series might not have helped the case. And, when asked what kind of role or say the Indian team management will have in managing the workload of these players through the IPL, Sharma was candidly pragmatic. "It's all up to the franchisees now, the franchisees own them (players) now," he said. "We've given some indications or borderline kind of things but at the end of the day, it's up to the franchisee and most importantly, it's the players. They have to take care of their own body. They're all adults. So, they have to look after their body and if they feel that it's getting a little too much, they can always talk about it and have a break in one or two games. I doubt that will happen."

It seems to be the existing reality at the moment. From March 31st till May 28, it is going to be the ten teams that will be managing the players as they try to win as many games as possible in a 14-game each league stage before the play-offs. And the players are getting ready for it too. That Australian all-rounder Mitchell Marsh, who will be turning up for Delhi Capitals, went "Go Delhi" with a smile and a fist pump just as he got up and left the dias in the media centre on Wednesday night summed it up. From the Indian context, there is a red-ball and 50-over global title to be won over the next eight months. But for now, the focus shifts to the IPL.

CLASH OF TITANS

Mumbai Indians take on UP Warriorz in the eliminator of the Women's Premier League. A look...

HEALY VS ISHAQUE

Alyssa Healy has fired only twice in the league games with the bat, with a top-score of an unbeaten 96 against Royal Challengers Bangalore. And of the seven times she has gotten out, four was against spin. Which is why, it should not come as a surprise if Saika Ishaque or Hayley Matthews is brought early on to counter the Australian.

WARRIORZ SPIN ATTACK

If Sophie Ecclestone, Deepti Sharma and Rajeshwari Gayakwad's experience isn't enough, the Warriorz have given opportunities to the U19 World Cup winning star like leg-spinner Parshavi Chopra who has made the most of it. While they did bring back Shabnim Ismail against Delhi Capitals, against Mumbai, UP will bring back Grace Harris adding to their spin options. Friday should be a spin yet another spin-dominated contest.

HARMANPREET VS ALYSSA

From the outside, the internal contest between the two top stars began after Healy's comments on Harmanpreet Kaur's run out in the WC semifinal. While the two athletes have maintained the niceties on the field, every time they come up against each other, there seems to be a tension, with occasional wry smiles. Kaur has led a star-studded side while Healy has marshalled the troops after the early struggles. Who will come out on top on Friday?

IPL 2023 Rule Changes: Explained

WITH SOME NEW RULES INDUCTED INTO THE PLAYING CONDITIONS FOR THE MARQUEE T20 LEAGUE, A LOOK...

TEAM SHEETS AFTER TOSS

Quite often we have seen the kind of impact toss has had on the result of the matches, especially with the dew coming in during the second innings. This time around, teams have a chance to counter it as they can name the playing XI after the toss. Which means effectively, they can carry in two team sheets based on whether they get to bat first or bowl first. This particular rule was earlier introduced in the SA20 league.

IMPACT PLAYER

It is something the BCCI had tried and tested during the Syed Mushtaq Ali Trophy, but this time there is more to it. That the teams can name the XIs after toss adds to this as they will be able to reserve or name a different impact player based on what they do first. They have to list four substitutes from which any one can be their impact player. Also, the fact that there are foreign players involved, it shouldn't come as a surprise if a team starts with 8 Indians and 3 overseas before bringing in the fourth as an impact player.

OVER-RATE PENALTY

Among other things, what drags the T20 game closer to midnight during the IPL is the slow over rate. This time, however, there will be a penalty of only four fielders allowed outside the 30-yard circle for every over not completed in the allocated time. With death overs being a primary concern for the teams, they will look to finish on time. Also, unfair movement of the wicketkeper or the fielder will result in a dead ball and a five run penalty

DRS FOR WIDES/NO BALL

As we have seen in the Women's Premier League, the teams will have two review per innings of a match. And what more, the players will be allowed to review any decision taken by the on-field umpires concerning whether or not a batter is dismissed, with the exception of Timed Out, including whether or not a delivery was wide or no ball. However, they are not allowed to review leg-byes. So far, teams were allowed to review only on-field dismissals.

India bag silver, bronze in mixed team events

AGENCIES @Bhopal

INDIA bagged one silver and one bronze in the ISSF Pistol/Rifle World Cup on Thursday. The air pistol mixed team pair of Varun Tomar and Rhythm Sangwan managd to secure the second spot, while the pair of Rudrankksh Patil and R Narmada Nithin finished third in air rifle event here on Thursday. India have taken their medals tally in the competition to four, including one gold, a silver and two bronze.

China won both the gold medals on offer on day two of the competition at the MP Shooting Academy Range. Varun, following his individual bronze-winning effort in air pistol on Wednesday, teamed up with Rhythm to give a tough fight to the Chinese pair of Qian Wei and Liu Jinyao, before going down 11-17 in the air pistol mixed team gold-medal round.

Earlier in the qualification round, Qian and Liu had topped the nine-team field with a score of 586, while Varun and Rhythm had finished second with 581.

"We all try our best and keep our best foot forward and silver is a medal as well. Gold would have been great but we are happy that we got a silver and we will try to better next time," said Rhythm, one of the most promising pistol shooters in the country, having won four junior team and individual gold medals at the 2021 World Championships in Lima.

The second Indian team comprising Divya TS and Sarabjot Singh missed the bronze by a point, finishing fifth with a score of 574.

Rudrankksh Patil and R Narmada Nithin couldn't recreate the same magic at home, finishing with a bronze. The pair had a combined score of 632 in qualification and finished third, thereby qualifying for the bronze-medal match against China's Zhang Qiongyue and Yu Haonan, who finished fourth with the same combined score in the 19-strong field.

Anger at Macron grows as unions hold new protests

Strikes upended travel as stations were blockaded, flights cancelled

PARIS

LARGE crowds in Paris and other French cities took to the streets in the first mass demonstrations since President Emmanuel Macron inflamed public anger by forcing a higher retirement age bill through parliament without a vote.

Strikes upended travel in France on Thursday as protesters blockaded train stations, Charles de Gaulle Airport in Paris, refineries and ports.

More than 250 protests were organised across the country and union leaders praised the "significant" mobilisation.

In Paris, tens of thousands gathered on the Bastille plaza in a cheerful atmosphere, many waving union flags to the sound of standard protest songs as they started walking through the capital. "We are here, even if Macron doesn't want it, we are here!" many chanted.

Some 1.089 million protesters took part in demonstrations in France on Thursday against pension reform, the interior ministry said, with 119,000 marching in Paris alone.

Interior Minister Gerald Darmanin denounced "unacceptable assaults and damage" at a state building and a police station in Lorient, also in western France. "These actions cannot remain unpunished," the minister tweeted.

High-speed and regional trains, Paris metro and public transportation systems in other major cities were disrupted. About 30% of flights at Paris Orly Airport were cancelled. The Eiffel Tower and the Versailles Palace were closed on Thursday due to the strikes.

Protesters staged blockades on major highways and interchanges to slow traffic around big cities. The Education Ministry said that about 24% of teachers have walked off job in primary and middle schools, and 15% in high schools.

Thursday's events were the ninth round of nationwide demonstrations and strikes called by France's eight main unions since January. Violence has intensified in recent days at small, scattered protests against the pension reform and Macron's leadership—in contrast with the largely peaceful big demonstrations staged by unions until then.

Macron is stubbornly resisting the discontent on the streets, and said on Wednesday that the government's bill to raise the retirement age from 62 to 64 must be implemented by the end of the year. Critics attacked Macron for the statement, describing him as "self-satisfied," "out of touch" and "offensive." The leader of the CGT union Philippe Martinez said Macron "threw a gas tank on the fire." Agencies

China's claim of chasing away destroyer false: US

BANGKOK

THE US denied Chinese claims on Thursday that its military had driven away an American guided-missile destroyer from operating around disputed islands in the South China Sea as tensions rise in the region between the two powers.

The US Navy's 7th Fleet said that a statement from China's Southern Theatre Command that it had forced the USS Milius away from waters around the Paracel Islands—called Xisha by China—was "false."

"USS Milius is conducting routine operations in the South China Sea and was not expelled," said Lt. j.g. Luka Bakic in response to a query from AP. "The United States will continue to fly, sail and operate wherever international law allows," Bakic added.

Bakic would not comment on whether the ship had been operating in immediate proximity of the Paracel Islands, which are in the South China Sea a few hundred kilometres off the coast of Vietnam and the Chinese province of Hainan, or whether there had been any sort of a confrontation.

China occupies the Paracel Islands, but they are also claimed by Taiwan and Vietnam.

Col. Tian Junli, a spokesperson for China's Southern Theatre Command, said earlier that the Chinese navy had followed and monitored the USS Milius after it "illegally entered China's Xisha territorial waters without approval from the Chinese government, undermining peace and stability in the South China Sea." He said that the Chinese navy and air force then forced away "the US warship in accordance with the law." "The theatre troops will maintain a state of high alert at all times and take all necessary measures to resolutely safeguard national sovereignty, security...peace and stability in the South China Sea," he said.

The incident comes amid growing tensions between China and the US in the region, as Washington pushes back at Beijing's growingly assertive posture in the South China Sea and elsewhere. AP

DISPUTED GOLD MINE RESTARTS OPERATIONS

A controversial gold mine in Thailand restarted operations on Thursday, more than six years after the government forced it to close over health and environmental concerns. The Chatree complex, which straddles three rural provinces in the north, had been dogged by legal disputes and protests by villagers who said it poisoned crops and livestock. The mine, operated by Thai subsidiary Akara Resources and billed by its owners as nation's largest, poured its first bars of gold-silver alloy, processed from ore stockpiled in 2016, on Thursday

Israel approves law protecting PM from ouster

TEL AVIV

ISRAEL'S parliament on Thursday passed the first of several laws that make up its contentious judicial overhaul as protesters opposing the changes staged another day of demonstrations.

PM Benjamin Netanyahu's coalition approved legislation that would protect the Israeli leader from being deemed unfit to rule because of his corruption trial and claims of a conflict of interest surrounding his involvement in the legal changes. Critics say the law is tailor-made for Netanyahu, encourages corruption and deepens a gaping chasm between Israelis over judicial overhaul.

The law to protect Netanyahu passed in an early morning vote 61-47 in Israel's 120-seat Knesset, or parliament. It stipulates that a PM can only be deemed unfit to rule for health or mental reasons and that only he or his government can make that decision. It comes after the country's attorney general has faced growing calls by Netanyahu opponents to declare him unfit to rule over his legal problems. The attorney general has already barred Netanyahu from involvement in the legal overhaul, saying he is at risk of a conflict of interest because of his corruption trial.

The Movement for Quality Government in Israel, a good governance organisation, said it was challenging the law in court, in what could set up the first showdown between judges and the government over the legal changes. Experts say the overhaul could set off a constitutional crisis that would leave Israel in chaos over who should be obeyed, the government or the courts. On Thursday, protesters launched a fourth midweek day of demonstrations. They blocked major thoroughfares, set tires ablaze near an important seaport. AP

KIDNEY PLOT

Nigerian leader guilty of trafficking organ to UK

LONDON

A senior Nigerian politician and his wife were found guilty on Thursday of conspiring to transport a street trader to the United Kingdom as part of an organ-harvesting plot.

Ike Ekweremadu, who was deputy president of the Nigerian Senate and a lawyer, and his wife, Beatrice, were accused of arranging the travel of a 21-year-old man to the UK with a view to exploiting him for a kidney donation.

Prosecutors said the politician and his wife were behind the recruitment of the man at a Lagos street market, and that they arranged for the victim to provide a kidney to their 25-year-old daughter, Sonia, in $98,000 transplant operation at a London hospital.

The victim, who was transported to London in February 2022, believed he was being taken to the capital for work, and that under the agreement, he would be paid thousands of pounds, prosecutors said.

Kidney donations are lawful in the UK but it is a criminal offense to reward someone with money for doing so.

The verdict is the first to convict suspects of an organ-harvesting conspiracy under the UK's modern slavery laws.

As part of the ruse, the victim was described as Sonia's cousin in his UK visa application, and the Ekweremadus pretended to doctors that the young man was related to Sonia. But a doctor at the Royal Free Hospital became suspicious about the circumstances surrounding the proposed operation, and decided it could not go ahead. The Ekweremadus then tried to find more potential donors in Turkey.

The case came to light when the victim reported to British police that he had been trafficked from Nigeria and that someone was trying to transplant his kidney. The defendants were remanded into custody and their sentencing was scheduled for May 5. AP

SUNAK EARNED £4.7 MN IN 2019-22, PAID £1 MN AS TAX

LONDON

BRITAIN Prime Minister Rishi Sunak has released his tax returns, revealing that the British-Indian leader paid more than GBP 1 million to the Exchequer since becoming a frontline politician in 2019.

The tax release is part of a transparency commitment the UK premier made in November last year.

Sunak, among the wealthiest British politicians, on Wednesday, revealed that he earned a total of GBP 4.766 million between 2019 and 2022 and paid GBP 1.053 million in tax—at a tax rate of around 22%.

Over the last tax year, when he was the finance minister, the leader paid GBP 325,826 in capital gains tax and GBP 120,604 in UK income tax on a total income of GBP 1.9 million.

"I published my tax returns in the interests of transparency, as I said I would, and I am glad to have done that," Sunak said on Wednesday. "I think ultimately what people are interested in is what I am going to do for them," he added.

Sunak worked in finance before entering politics and he and his family are thought to own several properties, including a Grade II-listed manor house in his North Yorkshire constituency, BBC reported.

The Opposition Labour Party, which has often raised Sunak's wealth in Parliament to claim he fails to fully empathise with those struggling with a cost-of-living crisis in the country, questioned the 'much delay' of their publication.

"They [tax returns] reveal a tax system designed by successive Tory governments in which the prime minister pays a far lower tax rate than working people who face the highest tax burden in 70 years," Labour Deputy Leader Angela Rayner said.

Former PM David Cameron published his tax return in 2016 after revelations about his late father's offshore fund were revealed in the Panama Papers.

Theresa May released her tax return during her campaign to be Tory leader in 2016, but did not do so when she was the prime minister.

The two previous British prime ministers, Boris Johnson and Liz Truss, did not publish their tax returns. PTI

Under pressure to publish tax returns

Sunak has been under pressure to publish his tax returns, particularly since it emerged that his wife, Akshata Murty, enjoyed "non-dom" status when he was finance minister. That meant she did not pay UK tax on dividends from her stake in her father's Infosys software company.

TikTok CEO faces off with US, says ByteDance is not an agent of China

WASHINGTON: US lawmakers grilled the CEO of TikTok, Shou Zi Chew, over data security and harmful content on Thursday, responding skeptically during a committee hearing to his assurances that the app prioritises user safety. In a rare bipartisan effort to reign in the power of a major social media platform, Republican and Democratic lawmakers pressed Chew on topics, ranging from TikTok's content moderation practices, how the company plans to secure American data from Beijing, as well as its spying on the journalists.

Germany to modernise army with Australian combat vehicles

Germany plans to buy more than 100 Australian-made combat vehicles as it moves ahead with plans to modernise its armed forces, the government said on Thursday

NEW PROCUREMENT

German and Australian officials signed an agreement to cooperate on the procurement of the new combat reconnaissance vehicles, based on the Boxer family of armoured fighting vehicles and equipped with a 30-millimetre gun. The aim is for deliveries to start in 2025, the Defence Ministry said

PURCHASE FROM SPECIAL FUND

It didn't give a price for the purchase. However, it said the money will come from a special $108 billion fund for the modernisation of the military that Germany approved after Russia invaded Ukraine last year

REPLACING WIESEL 2

The new vehicles will replace the German army's Wiesel 2 armoured vehicles, the Defence Ministry informed

YEARS OF NEGLECT

Germany's military is widely acknowledged to be suffering from years of neglect and in particular from aging, poorly functioning equipment

The German government has faced criticism for making a slow start to spending the special fund, but has said that 30 billion euros has already been committed to contracts

In December, German lawmakers gave the go-ahead for a series of procurement projects including the purchase of Lockheed Martin F-35 fighter jets, an American combat aircraft capable of providing electronic warfare as well as intelligence

Ukraine Prez Zelenskyy visits South Kherson

KYIV

UKRAINE'S president on Thursday made his third visit in two days to areas that have felt the brunt of Russia's war, with a trip to the southern Kherson region that was retaken from the Kremlin's forces, and as a senior Kyiv commander hinted that a brewing Ukrainian counteroffensive could come "very soon." While in Kherson on Thursday, President Volodymyr Zelenskyy met with local security officials and inspected infrastructure damaged by Russian strikes, his office said. On Wednesday, Zelenskyy visited Kharkiv.

Zelenskyy's 48 hours of visits far from Kyiv—and close to the front line—came as improving weather sets the stage for possible new offensives by both sides. The biting winter weather, followed by mud as the ground thawed out, have prevented major changes on the battlefield, and the war has largely been deadlocked in recent months.

Ukraine is now starting to receive modern weapons, including tanks, from its Western allies, who are also training Ukrainian troops to use them.

Ukraine's ground forces commander said on Thursday that Russian forces are "exhausting themselves" in their grinding push to take Bakhmut, giving Kyiv a window of opportunity for a counterstrike.

Col. Gen. Oleksandr Syrskyi said in a Telegram post that the Russian assault on Bakhmut was causing Russian forces to "lose considerable strength."
